Students and parents happy after board decision

Jubilant ran rampant in Madoc Township on Tuesday, following the decision by the Hastings County Board of Education on Monday night to cancel the transfer of Mr. Art Gough, Principal of Madoc Township School for the past year, to Marmora. The parents and ratepayers were happy that they had proved you could change a decision made by elected officials but, first and foremost, the students were happy because the principal that they liked and respected would be there for at least one more year.

The next day, while trying to get Mr. Gough's impressions of the events of the past two weeks, I had trouble to hear his statements over statements by the students like, "He's our principal. He's the greatest," along with requests for assistance with one problem or another from both students and teachers. Mr. Gough also seemed reluctant to take time away from the student-parent-teacher ball game that was taking place and it was only after chasing him around while he solved these problems, that I finally got his attention and some comments.

He was happy to be staying in the township school but added, "I believe in the system and made a statement earlier that I was willing to abide by the board's decision. I knew that something was going on after the announcement had been made, but when I was talking to the parents involved, they said absolutely nothing about what they were doing. I had no idea that they would take it as far as they did or that they would be successful in changing the decision."

Dressed in his sweat pants and old shirt, he finally seemed to be relaxing and admitted that it had been a period of wondering on his part as to where he would be next year. "Here it is the last day of school and I just found out that I would be staying here for another year."

Mr. Gough also showed a great deal of modesty after what had just taken place. He felt that had Mr. Ken Gillies been transferred to the township school instead

At a recent council meeting, held on June 25, several important issues were discussed.

Councillor Pigden reported that repairs necessitated by vandalism had been completed at the ball park and that a sign regarding such matters will soon be posted.

The position of Town Foreman was also considered by Council. Following a closed discussion it was decided that the applicant, Mr. David Love, would not be offered the job of Town Foreman but rather would be asked to continue as labourer. As recommended by Mr. Lindsay Empey, the job will be available on 1 September of this year.

Several residents have indicated that they would like the opportunity to watch live audio-visual broadcasts of Council meetings on Hastings Cablevision. Mr. Gordon Pigden said that such coverage could be arranged in the fall, when cooler weather would make the use of bright and hot lights more comfortable. However, he added that live audio coverage (with an eight second delay) would be an earlier possibility and was given permission to install the necessary lines to the Council buildings.

A children's weekend has been tentatively proposed for the 17 and 18 of August. The reeve had earlier been approached by Mrs. Grace Tough to participate in the pie-throwing contest.

Both Mr. Deline and Mr. Connerty have agreed to act as targets and it is expected that the event will be a popular attraction.

An industrial brochure of the village, currently being compiled and prepared by Miss Susan Brownson, was reviewed by Council. Corrections and suggestions were considered. It is felt that such a pamphlet describing the assets of the area, would provide incentive for possible investors. A revised edition of the project will be submitted to Council at the next meeting.

The concern expressed by Madoc residents over the village water wells was again reflected during the Council meeting. Councillor Connerty noted problems with the two reports of 4 June and 14 June prepared by Hydrogeologist Bryan Whitehead. He felt that Mr. Whitehead had not properly investigated the no. 2 test well and added that a second test would be necessary. The first letter of 4 June states that the #2 test well had been drilled to a depth of 91.4 m with a yield of 3 L/sec. A conflict of information was

Canon Thompson: More than just a minister

Many people in and around the Village of Madoc are losing a valued and trusted friend as well as a minister that has contributed a great deal to this community. Canon J.H. Thompson, who has been the Anglican Church minister for sixteen years and become as much a part of the community as O'Hara's Mill, has accepted a new challenge and will soon become the minister of the Anglican Church in Amherstview, near Kingston. The church in Amherstview has always been connected with Kingston, but now wants a resident minister and Canon Thompson will fulfill that duty. He has always liked a challenge and hopes to be able to build that church into as strong a church as the one in Madoc has become with the aims there to be much the same as they were when he first arrived in this village. That is, to extend the church and eventually build a parish hall so that the church can continue to be a part of a growing community.

Canon Thompson has been known to many of us as a minister, but he has been much more than that to this area. He has been the Chaplain of the Royal Canadian Legion, President of the Madoc and District Ministerial Association, Benevolent Fund, a board member of the Canadian Bible Society, Quinte Region, area representative of the T.B. Christmas sale, a member of the task force for the Board of Education in Centre Hastings, President for five years of the Moira District Boy Scout Association, Captain of the Madoc Cadet Corps for eleven years and Commanding Officer for two years as well as holding dedication services for such events as the opening of the new arena, the annual dedication services at the Peace Park and still finding time to be the Canon of St. George's Cathedral in Kingston, a member of the Diocesan executive and a representative for the Ontario Diocese for the Provincial Senate, to name a few of the many things this amazing man has become involved in over the years.

As you can well imagine, over the course of his sixteen years here, he has seen many changes and has many highlights of his term in Madoc. Such things as the purchasing of the house presently used as a rectory, the renovation of the church using furniture from other churches which have been closed to make this church in Madoc a beautiful little country church, the new parish hall (which he sees as not only a great asset to the parish but to the community as well), the completion of the Bannockburn Church, the renovations of St. Oswald Church in Milbridge (which also celebrated its 107th anniversary this year) and of course last, but not least, being here to celebrate the 114th anniversary of the Anglican Church in Madoc have all been high points in those sixteen years as well as the dedication of the Senior Citizens' building, remembrance services and he also made special mention of his ministry on cable television for five years. Those are impressive credentials he takes to his new church and if he can accomplish half of the things he has done in this community, he will have done much more than anyone could expect of him.

Canon Thompson was born and raised in Bristol, England, came to Canada in the early 1950's and went into the Church Army Training College in Toronto in 1954-1956. He was commissioned by the late Archbishop Barfoot. He has ministered in Caledonia, B.C., Plevna, North Frontenac, and he spent one year on the staff of the All Saints Church in Toronto before coming to Madoc in August, 1963. He was ordained as Deacon in St. George's Cathedral, Kingston in 1964, raised to priesthood in St. John's Church, Stirling, in October 1965, and became a Canon in 1977, which was not only a great honour for him but for a country parish as well.

"The hardest part about leaving Madoc is the people themselves," says Canon Thompson. "Many of the children that have come to my church have said that I am the only minister they have known and our roots have grown so deep while we lived here that it is very hard to just pull them up and leave." He also felt this community had been home for his children, who had gone through the school system here. He then began to talk about the young people in his churches and it became apparent that they were a source of great pride for him.

For the people of Madoc, Canon Thompson will be a great loss to the community. He held his last service in Madoc on Sunday evening and was then honoured at a special gathering in the Anglican Church Hall of which he is so proud. The hall was packed with well over two hundred people and many gifts were bestowed on him. Such people as Tom Deline, the Reeve of Madoc, Joe Ash, a councillor and member of the Orange Lodge, Priscilla and Roy Cadwell of the Peace Park, Gord Pigden of Madoc Cablevision and his cadets all came out to honour him along with his many longtime friends and associates. The highlight of the evening had to be the unveiling of a plaque dedicating the Anglican Church Hall as the Canon Thompson Memorial Hall. This honour, along with the many other gifts and dedications, must have touched this man's heart and brought the fact home that he was truly appreciated as a valued member of the community and will be sorely missed by everyone. We wish you well, Canon Thompson, and hope that you will come back often to see us. Good luck!

Parents and township ratepayers saw two weeks of research and tough, hard arguments result in their winning a decision over the Hastings County Board of Education on Monday evening, June 25th, when the Board reversed their decision to transfer principal Art Gough to Marmora. The reversed decision was considered a precedent by many of those involved, who felt that they had proved that if you felt strongly enough about an issue and get the support of enough people, you can still insure that the democratic process is followed.

In two very detailed and well-presented briefs by Lorna Matthews and Maggie Carscallen at the Monday night meeting, several facts that apparently had not been presented to the Board prior to their decision to transfer the principals, were brought to light and proved to be of some concern to several of the board members. The point that seemed to raise the most questions was presented by Lorna Matthews in her brief. "Prior to September 1979, when Mr. Gough was appointed principal, the following problems were occurring at Madoc Township School," said Mrs. Matthews. "A great deal of student fighting occurred regularly, due to the lack of playground supervision. Many pupils were afraid to go to school because of these problems. Parental concern with the school resulted. Some parents actually withdrew their children from the school because they felt the educational needs were not being met. These parents then enrolled their children in the Madoc Public School and the Marmora Separate School."

Mrs. Matthews went on to point out that the Board obviously agreed with the decision to move Mr. Gough to the Madoc Township School last fall because "...he was the right person to solve the problems of that school. Indeed, we agree." She went on to say that not only had Mr. Gough solved the problems at the school and gained the trust of the students, he had also gained the support and trust of the parents as evidenced by the almost unanimous support the committee had received when taking petitions in regard to the transfer of Mr. Gough. Mrs. Matthews also questioned the "new student needs" that had developed requiring the changing of principals in both Marmora and Madoc after just one year. "Surely one year ago, given the thought that goes into principal placement, the Board and administration did not plan to move these two newly appointed principals after just one year of tenure. We question the planning that requires Marmora to have three new principals in three years and Madoc Township Public School to also have three principals in three years." These comments were directed at statements made by Board Superintendent Frank Tate and Education Director Bruce Mathers who said that a one year placement was not normal or ideal.

Mrs. Matthews' brief was quickly followed by one presented by Mrs. Carscallen, who said "...appalled by the fact that, aside from professional ethics, many teachers felt that their jobs were on the line or that, if they spoke out, they would be severely reprimanded. Again, another inconsistency," she said. "Mr. Tate said this was right, they should not speak out and Mr. Mathers said any fears the employees had were self-inflicted. I wonder how much better the system would run if their fears were taken away? Who knows, these employees that work directly with students and parents might have information and opinions that would be very helpful to the administration?"

Mrs. Carscallen added, "Mr. Tate stated that our need for a strong principal is not as great as in the Marmora School, because we don't have a weak member in our staff. I think I see what he is implying, but I'm not sure that the Marmora school would like his statement." Mrs. Carscallen substantiated the need for Mr. Gough in the township school with figures. "Yes, I'm sure that more principals like Mr. Gough are needed elsewhere, but we need him here too. Mr. Tate stated that our children do not require special education courses as bad as the children in the Marmora school. After all this is taken into consideration, then it is decided where a principal must go. I wonder if Mr. Tate knew or cared that 65 of our 213 students need and are getting special education courses. This is 30 percent of our school population."

Mr. Tate later denied making these statements although there were well over thirty parents and ratepayers at the Cooper meeting who heard the comment.

Immediately following the presentations of the briefs, the board members were asked if they had any questions. Mr. Tom Burnside took advantage of this opportunity to make some more facts and views known to the board. "The people of Madoc Township took considerable time on their part and mine (I received over fifty calls regarding the transfer) and what they say about having almost complete support of the parents of the township school is true. It is a happy and productive school and if we persist with the move, we may undermine our position." Mr. Burnside then moved to rescind the move and reconsider immediately. Almost before the words were out of his mouth, two trustees seconded the motion. However, other members of the board had questions or points they wanted cleared up, so the motion was not passed immediately.

the fighting and lack of playground supervision and also, how many children had been withdrawn from the Madoc Township School. It now became apparent that the committee had done their homework. Lorna Matthews stood and told the board that eight students had been withdrawn from the school and that Maggie Carscallen was one parent who had children who were afraid to go to school at times because they were being beaten by other students. The member of the board went on to say that a logical and sound case had been presented to the board for leaving Mr. Gough there. He was surprised though, that knowledge that was so apparent for the parents had not been made available to them. He made to be the best but "...this is a bunch of bull," and he found it shocking that this had to be brought to the school board by the parents.

After considerable discussion and clearing up of points and statements in the briefs by some members of the board, it was generally conceded that the board had made a mistake, but the mistake was made by the whole board. The chairman for the board passed the motion that the board rescind that part of a motion approved on June 11th to move Mr. Gough from Madoc Township Public School and appoint Mr. K. Gillies as principal of that school. The motion was carried and the chairman

Local people achieve excellence

Karate means more than just self defense

Robert Taylor, Jim Berry, Sheila Berry, Sharon van Dyk and Max van Dyk received their Shodan (1st degree) Black Belts from the Hastings School of Martial Arts on Wednesday, June 27th, which was the culmination of about four and one half years of dedication and hard work on their part. Bob Walthers, their teacher, stated during his presentation of the belts, "This is a unique and special atmosphere here tonight and I have seen you people work long and hard to achieve this honour. You came when we had to push your cars through snow and when the heat was so bad you almost wouldn't want to train, but you came anyway. I hope you will continue in that art of Karate and if you do so, you will have my utmost help."

Five black belt presentations in one evening would make many larger schools envious, but according to Bob Walthers, there is a reason for these five people getting their belts together. "They all started around the same time and came through most of their training together. As time progressed and the training became harder, one or the other of them would almost give up when the other four would get behind them and help and encourage the weaker member to carry on. That alone has made their karate training worthwhile." Mr. Walthers also thought this was unusual because normally, only 2 out of 100 students go on to get their black belts.

To most people, karate is a means of self defense, but to Bob Walthers and his students, karate is much more. "The mental aspect is more important than the physical aspect," he says, "but, the old masters took karate farther than that. They stressed diet, meditation and attitude along with fighting skills but they also knew how to heal broken bones and how to avoid breaking those bones or situations that would force them to do so." This mental attitude is stressed in his school and not everyone who wants to learn karate, is suitable.

The five students who got their belts on that evening, did not just attend classes for four and one half years to get their belts. They also had to pass a rigorous and very demanding six hour test as the final stage and it was with great pride that they sat and watched their other classmates receive their black belt.

These students now hope to continue with their karate training and will be able assisted by Bob Walthers and Brent McCoy, another black belt who attends the school. Brent also teaches karate at the high school during the winter.

Robert Taylor, Jim Berry, Sheila Berry, Sharon van Dyk and Max van Dyk received their black belts on June 27th.

Consumer Casebook

Customer pays price marked

Price tags - Trenton

We have been advised of several instances of a store in Trenton that marks its price on the item and then when it is presented to the salesperson the price is upped on the grounds that "it is the prerogative of the store". Nonsense. It's not the prerogative of the store. The law is that the marked price is the price the customer will pay. So don't put up with this little piece of blackmail. Complain to the Services Officer of the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations in Peterborough.

Insulation

The increasing interest in the installation of insulation has been causing a backlog in obtaining the necessary forms for which to make application. These forms are the ones that will help homeowners to receive a grant toward their insulation costs. You pay the bill first and then send off the form for the government grant. It applies at present to all homes built before 1961.

Along with current insulation move, of course, have come the insulation bandits--those who jump in to make a quick buck. So, before you pay out your hard-earned cash, you had better make sure that the company you lean to is a bona fide one that has established a reputation for good workmanship. Just seeing a truck "apparently" blowing insulation into your walls is not good enough. Whatever you do in this line make sure you watch and check the job all the way.

Summer employment

We issue you our usual summer employment warning. Make sure that you know and understand your working agreement with your employer. Make sure that you know what you are to be paid, when you are to be paid and what deductions are to be made from your pay. Don't wait until your job has finished. You may then have to fight your argument with the help of the Employment Standards Branch of the Ministry of Labour. Our new address is 249½ Front Street, Belleville.

Minute Men Make bid for playoffs

The Madoc Minute Men are finally getting untracked and are now making a serious bid to gain a playoff berth in the Stirling and District Softball League.

On June 19th, in Madoc, the Minute Men destroyed the Springbrook Juveniles after four and one half innings by the score of 13-1. Harold Bailey was the hero of the game with a homerun and 5 RBI's while the team collected six extra base hits.

On June 23rd and 24th, the team attended the Springbrook tournament and won their first game by the score of 6-0. Bailey and Daryl Kramp hit homeruns for the locals. In their second game, the team lost a close 3-2 decision to the Springbrook Royals but the good news of the day was that Army pitched a great game.

On June 26th, the Minute Men were again in Madoc to entertain their following. They eventually handed Hoard's Station their second defeat of the season, but not until they fell behind by one run early in the game on a wild throw to second by Bailey. Timely hitting by Glen (the Hammer) Graham and Dave Flemming accounted for the Minute Men's first run before Charlie Wannamaker made a glaring mistake in judgment. He was on first base and decided that he would try and steal second. Charlie, it is said, likes to get a little jump on the ball but, this time, he took a lead off right in front of an umpire. Charlie was called out. Brother Dave, however, came up right behind him and belted a homerun to give Madoc the lead, which they never relinquished from then on.

Brian Armstrong pitched a strong game although his arm is still not at its best. He collected 10 strikeouts, gave up 3 walks and only 3 hits. The run scored on him was unearned. Glen Graham had a great game at the plate and scored two of the three Madoc runs. The final score was 3-1. Quotable Quotes - "Charlie, what were you trying to do?"

"I thought I'd take a good jump. I should have known that old geezer would watch your feet. A younger guy wouldn't have." Games this week - July 3rd, Minute Men host Stirling Selects; July 5th, Stirling Selects host Minute Men.

noted with the second report of 14 June. In this letter Mr. Whitehead says that the same well had been tested at a depth of only 61 m. with a yield of 2 lit./sec. He further recommends three other sites and indicates his availability to test them. Councillor Connerty, in view of the two letters, stated that, according to Mike Wade, of J.D. Lee Engineering, a well can be accurately tested only at the bottom. From the information of the second letter it can be assumed that the no. 2 test well was tested 30.4 m. from the bottom. With this knowledge, Councillor Connerty advised further testing. Deputy Reeve Kramp also expressed dissatisfaction with Mr. Whitehead yet wanted to first seek legal advice on the drilling regarding breach of contract, the site selection, and the contract with D.D. Lee. Though he was not content with Mr. Bryan Whitehead, he supported J.D. Lee Engineering as an 'efficient' company. Council decided to request the presence of Mr. Whitehead at their August meeting. An appeal to the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario will be forwarded if that meeting is not attended.

In co-operation with the (Lester B. Pearson) Peace Park, the week of 15 - 22 July has been proclaimed as "Peace Week" in Madoc.

In recognition of the past service of Canon Thompson to the village it was decided to obtain a plaque. The reeve agreed to make the presentation at the Farewell Service on Sunday, 1 July.

A meeting at the Kiwanis Centre of the "Moir Cottagers for Clean Water", scheduled for 10 a.m. on 7 July will be attended by Deputy Reeve Kramp.

A replacement for a participant of the Committee of Adjustment is being considered. Two names were suggested and an appointment will be made.

A By-law which would make smoke detectors mandatory in the village will be presented to Council during the August meeting for the 1st and 2nd readings. Council adjourned until 7 August.

New legislation with more stringent operating and rehabilitation standards, as well as increased licence fees and rehabilitation security deposits paid by operators was introduced in the Ontario Legislature on June 14, 1979.

The Aggregates Act, which received first reading that day, will replace Ontario's eight-year-old Pits and Quarries Control Act.

Natural Resources Minister James A.C. Auld, in introducing the new bill, said the changes were recommended by a ministry-appointed working party which examined, among other things, rehabilitation of pits and quarries.

He said the working party concluded that vague or general reference to rehabilitation in the present act has resulted in insufficient rehabilitation work being carried out in some parts of the province.

The new act has three purposes: to provide for the management of the aggregate and Crown aggregate resources of Ontario; to control and regulate pits and quarries, wayside pits and quarries and Crown aggregate pits and quarries; to require the rehabilitation of land from which aggregate or Crown aggregate has been excavated.

The working party also recommended that a rehabilitation security deposit paid to the province by pit and quarry operators to ensure funds are available to rehabilitate licensed sites be raised to eight cents per metric ton of material extracted from the present two cents per imperial ton.

"Since the security deposit is increased four-fold, the operators should perform more and better rehabilitation in order to get their money back," the minister said.

Many features of the new act are the result of experience gained over the years by the various interests concerned with

The Pits and Quarries Control Act.

One such feature is an annual license fee of six cents per ton annually, four cents of which will go to the local municipality, one-half cent to the region or county, one-half cent toward the rehabilitation of old abandoned pits and quarries, and one cent to the province.

At the same time as the new legislation was being introduced, Mr. Auld released a separate study commissioned by the minister which came to the same conclusion as the working party on inadequate rehabilitation. This study, co-authored by William E. Coates of Employment and Immigration Commission for at least 14 weeks in the year before your Qualifying Period*. Then you would only need 10 to 14 weeks, depending on the Variable Entrance Requirement* where you live.

Are you starting to work again?

If you're coming back to work after being away a year or more, you'll usually need 20 Weeks of Work* in your Qualifying Period* before you can qualify for UI benefits.

This applies wherever you live.

This 20-week rule won't apply, however, if you were in any of the following situations for a total of at least 14 weeks in the year before your Qualifying Period*.

These are the situations that count:

1. You were getting temporary worker's disability compensation from a provincial program;
2. You were receiving sick or maternity leave payments;
3. You were out of work because of a labour dispute at your place of work;
4. You were on a Commission-approved training course;
5. You were on UI claim;
6. You were working in insurable employment.

So, for first-time workers and those coming back to work:

A. If you were in any of these six situations for a total of at least 14 weeks in the year before your Qualifying Period*, then you need only 10 to 14 Weeks' Work* in the Qualifying Period*, depending on the VER* where you live.

B. If none of the six situations fit your case, you will have to have worked at least 20 weeks to qualify for UI benefits.

NOTE: If you are returning to work after being away more than one year, the 20-week rule will normally apply to you.

Did you get UI benefits in the last year?

If you got UI benefits in your Qualifying Period*, there are new rules that may apply to you - unless the Unemployment Rate* in your area is over 11.5 per cent.

1. If a claim you had in the last year has not run out, you may be able to renew it.

Unless you worked at least 20 weeks in the past year, these changes could apply to you.

In December 1978, Parliament changed the Unemployment Insurance program. Changes starting July 1 mean that some people will have to work longer before they can qualify for Unemployment Insurance benefits.

Please remember, these UI changes affect only those claims which start on or after July 1, 1979. And, the changes may or may not apply to you. So please read on to see if you are affected.

(You'll find terms such as "Weeks of Work", "Qualifying Period", "Variable Entrance Requirement" (VER), and "Unemployment Rate" marked by an asterisk (*). For easier understanding, see the box "Explaining UI terms" at the end of this message.)

Here are the details of those changes.

Have you worked 20 weeks or more in your Qualifying Period*?

If so, this message does not apply to you. For you, the number of weeks you need to qualify for regular UI benefits and for UI illness and maternity benefits, or the one-time benefit at age 65 has not changed.

Are you working for the first time?

To get UI benefits, you will usually need 20 Weeks' Work*, no matter where you live.

An exception to this would be if you were on a training course approved by the Canada

Guelph, a landscape architectural consultant, and Owen R. Scott, a University of Guelph assistant professor of landscape architecture, was carried out at the same time ministry staff was rewriting The Pits and Quarries Control Act.

The report, entitled "A Study of Pit and Quarry Rehabilitation in Southern Ontario", is based on examinations of 258 pits and quarries covering a 25,000-acre area in Brant and Wellington Counties and Durham, Halton and Peel regions. Forty-four percent of the area examined was classified as rehabilitated, but 56 percent fell into the "no rehabilitation"

Generally, the study concluded that much more specific information on methods and techniques of rehabilitation must be provided to the aggregate industry if government expects to receive fuller co-operation from operators. The study said little guidance or information had been given operators about the procedures for planting trees and shrubs, landscaping pit slopes or using newly-created lakes or ponds to rehabilitate extraction sites.

Copies of the study may be obtained from the Public Service Centre, Ministry of Natural Resources, Room 1644, Whitney

Block, Queen's Park, Toronto M7A 1W3 and the Ontario Government Bookstore, 880 Bay Street (at Grosvenor), Toronto

M7A 1N3. Price is $2. Cheques or money orders should be made payable to the Treasurer of Ontario.

Treating second, and third degree burns

If someone suffers a second or third degree burn, that blisters or produces open tissue, cover the burn with a lint free cloth, as sterile as possible and get the victim medical help as soon as possible.

The sterile, lint free cloth might be a shirt or a sheet. Don't use paper tissue or cottonbatting. If scorched clothing is stuck to the victim, don't try to remove it. You could make the wound worse, and in any event, the scorched cloth is sterile.

You can get a St. John Ambulance First Aid course by getting in touch with the local branch of St. John or writing St. John Ambulance, 46 Wellesley Street East, Toronto, Ontario M4Y 1G5.

tarting July 1, e some changes made ployment Insurance.

- If yours is classed as a new claim, you will need the usual 10 to 14 Weeks' Work* depending on your local VER*, plus up to six "extra" Weeks of Work*. The number of "extra" weeks you'll need depends on how many weeks you got on your previous UI claim. You need one "extra" week (up to a maximum of six) for every week you got over the VER* needed in your area.

Here's an example: You need 12 Weeks' Work* in your region (your local VER*) to qualify for benefits the first time. On your last claim, you drew 15 weeks' benefits before going back to work. Now, you would need the usual 12 weeks, plus three "extra" work weeks. (That's the difference between the 12 weeks you needed to work and the 15 weeks of benefits you drew. In total you would need 15 Weeks' Work* to qualify again within one year. The most anyone needs anywhere is 20 weeks of work to qualify.

Again, please remember, when the Unemployment Rate* in your area is over 11.5 per cent, this rule won't apply to you. You'll need only 10 Weeks' Work* to qualify for regular UI benefits.

Other changes have been in effect since January 1979:

- The weekly benefit rate was reduced to 60 per cent of your average insurable earnings (from 66<sup>2</sup>/<sub>3</sub> per cent).
- Most people employed for less than 20 hours a week are no longer covered by UI.
- Higher-income claimants may have to repay part of UI benefits drawn in the 1979 tax year. This will only affect people whose income, including UI benefits, is over $20,670. This will be explained when you get your 1979 tax return.

These things haven't changed:

Just as a review, these points haven't changed:

- You may still get UI illness and maternity benefits and the special benefit paid at age 65 if you've worked 20 weeks in your Qualifying Period*.
- There's still a two-week waiting period before UI benefits start.
- To get regular benefits, you must still be available for and looking for work each day you are on claim.
- You must report any work and earnings while on claim.

- You can be disqualified from getting benefits for up to six weeks if you quit your job voluntarily, you were fired for misconduct, or if you turned down a suitable job offer.
- You can still appeal a decision by UI to deny you benefits.

Explaining UI terms:

*Weeks of Work

This means weeks of work that are insurable for Unemployment Insurance. Most employment of 20 hours or more a week is insurable.

*Qualifying Period

What UI calls your Qualifying Period is the 52 weeks before we start your claim. Or if you had a claim in the last year, it's the time since that claim started.

*Variable Entrance Requirement (VER)

To qualify for Unemployment Insurance benefits, you must have worked from 10 to 14 weeks in insurable employment during your Qualifying Period*. The exact number of weeks depends on the Unemployment Rate* in the economic region where you live. (See below.) If you don't have enough weeks to qualify when you file your claim, we keep your application in the computer file. If the Unemployment Rate* changes so you then have the weeks you need, we will send you a notice.

*Unemployment Rate

For Unemployment Insurance, the Unemployment Rate used for each of the 48 economic regions of Canada is not the current monthly Statistics Canada unemployment rate in each region. It is a three-month average of seasonally-adjusted monthly unemployment rates.

Open air children's service and parish picnic

In conjunction with the "International Year of the Child" the students and staff of St. John's Anglican Church Sunday School, Madoc, with the help of Canon J.H. Thompson, planned a Special "Children's Service."

On June 17, 1979, a beautiful sunny, Sunday morning, around 100 people gathered at the picturesque setting of O'Hara's Mill Conservation Area for the Open Air Service at 11 a.m.

It was a special day for the children of the Parish. The order of Service for Young People from the Prayer Book was used and children's hymns were chosen. The 1st Lesson was read by Jane Bonter and the 2nd Lesson by Jill Taylor.

The sermon, given by Canon J.H. Thompson, was specifically for children with the use of pictures but a message of God's great love and concern for us was comprehended by young and old alike.

The church wardens Mr. Alan Danford and Mr. Wm. Taylor presented the Warden's Trophy donated by Mr. Danford, Mr. Taylor and Mrs. Dennis Thompson for spectacular achievement in S.S. during the year. Dawn Wiggins received the musical trophy for being our faithful pianist all year. Avril Hudson, Vicki, Jeff, Karen and Jill Wiggins received trophies for never missing a Sunday all year. Mrs. Eleanor Bruce, the Sunday School Superintendent, then presented all the "Excellent Attendance Awards" and the "Certificates of Promotion." Those receiving Excellent Attendance Awards were - Warren and Byron Miller, Kevin and Scott Gillespie, Vicki, Jeff, Karen, Jill and Dawn Wiggins, Robbie and Barbie, Bruce, Terry and Avril Hudson, Joanne, Jim, Kathy and Jane Bonter, Jeff and Lori Sawkins, Clark and Siobhan Harrop, Hans and Lars Shult-Nielsen Rhonda and Connie Taylor, Matthew Rose and Debbie Falladown.

All fathers present were then presented with a small bottle of after-shave lotion and a pocket size ruler, compliments of the day from the Sunday School.

Since this was the last Sunday our Church School would be together as a group with Canon and Mrs. J.H. Thompson, they were then thanked for all their endeavours over the years with the children of the Parish and were presented a gift by Mrs. Bruce on behalf of the Sunday School.

The service then concluded and was a most enjoyable time of worship together in the beautiful outdoors.

Around 80 people remained and had a pot-luck noonday picnic meal together, after which the races and picnic events planned by Wendy Hudson took place. Following are the results of the events.

French-English exchange trip

Madoc Public School's Grade 6 class have been writing to a Grade 6 class in Mascouche, Quebec. The schools met in Ottawa on June 14 to spend the day together. The following are stories written about their day in Ottawa.

Our trip to Ottawa

by Adrian Connerty
Grade 6

Our adventure team did not become very famous after my first story, so I wrote another one.

My story begins about 2 months ago. We had heard about another adventure team called the Mascouchians. We wrote to them asking if they had exciting adventures like we did. Soon we were to meet each other.

Everyone was thrilled until the cost arose. Our minds were at work for a scheme when the government declared our trip free under the French Exchange Program. The day came when we were to go, we had all of our gear with us as we scrambled onto the bus. Our expedition was on our way once more.

On the bus some of the group went totally berserk. The few sane ones sang songs to keep everything calm.

After a slow ride, we arrived at the National Museum of Science and Technology in Ottawa. As soon as one of the older supervisors read us the rules, a few members of our team madly dashed for the rocket and sonar machine.

The Mascouchians did not show. We were too impatient and went to tour the Science Centre ourselves.

My senses were all wrong in the crooked kitchen. There was a t.v. camera filming you falling in the crooked kitchen. The little chicks in an incubator looked like fat little mice.

By now, I had somehow lost Mrs Bruce our courageous leader. I thought that the fire engines were polished and kept like brand new.

When we were finished, we ate lunch. Suddenly the Mascouchians arrived. We met, had a limited conversation and then they left to tour the Science Centre.

Both groups then left for Gatineau Park. When we arrived we gave them our project on Madoc and they gave us their project on Mascouche.

Also at the Gatineau Park, we had a bilingual treasure hunt. It was confusing; how do you explain a worm to a French person who doesn't fish?

After that episode, we gave our farewells and left for McDonald's. After filling our empty, little stomachs, we left for home. Meeting our counter-part adventure team will be a day to remember.

Bannockburn news

We Won! They said it could never be done, but it was. The parents from the Twn. School gathered together in car pools to go to the Board meeting in Belleville on Monday night. It had to be one of the most exciting victories of my life to hear the Board of Education cancel the motion to remove Art Gough from our school. We fought and we won. Thank you everyone for moving on your conviction to keep our principal.

We are also proud to announce some winners in Bannockburn at the Twns. awards night. The Students of the year were boys 1st place, Michael Pollman and 2nd, Travis Hannan, and the girls 1st place were Debbie Pack and 2nd Debbie Shaw. Miss Candy Osborne of Bannockburn also won an award of excellence for her performance in sports for 1979. Congratulations to all the kids who have done an excellent job this year.

Miss Clema Carmen visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Carmen of Eldorado. We welcome Miss Carmen home from Peterborough, and we hope she enjoyed her visit.

I guess I wouldn't be much of a mother if I failed to mention that my six year old son, Robbie, won the McDonald's colouring contest in Belleville this last week. He came in first place out of 200 entries. Congratulations to him also.

Watch next week for a detailed review of the Baumhour- Andrews wedding.

Students and parents cont'd

of himself the previous year, Mr. Gillies would have received the same support. "He is a very good administrator," he said.

Referring to the fact that the parents had mentioned that he had known the names of all the students in the school after one month, he stated, "That was basically true but was due to the fact that the school has less than three hundred students (213) and as far as I'm concerned, schools shouldn't be any larger than that so that you can get that personal knowledge of the students."

I had heard comments from various parents, ratepayers and other interested adults throughout the controversy and I and Canon Thompson, who are good friends, were honoured this weekend and both have been a valued part of the community for many years.

Mary has been a valued and dedicated member of the Order of the Eastern Star for many years and this love and dedication was appreciated on Saturday night when members of the Eastern Star from all over North America came to honour her. Such comments as "Mary, you are our shining light and your gentle attitude and loveable manner has endeared you to us" and "Mary, you were the baby of the family and you turned out to be a beautiful baby" were just a few of the many statements of love made by her peers and friends in the Order. Canon Thompson paid her perhaps the greatest honour when he said, "I have listened to all of the great things that Mary has done and I tell you that no one can do these things unless the presence of God is in that life."

Mrs. Barton's family were also present to see their mother honoured and she showed again that she is not only dedicated to community life, but to the lives of her husband and children as well. As was said by Mrs. Bertha Love in her tribute to Mary Barton, "You have proven your love and dedication many times over and, for this reason, we honour you here tonight." Mary retained regal poise throughout the ceremony but admitted in her speech, "I hardly know who all of you are speaking about." In her speech, she thanked her family for their support and love and promised to do her job to the best of her ability. After all these years of dedication, who could ever doubt that she would do anything less?

had been looking forward to meeting this man and forming my own opinion. He did appear to be the "hardnosed disciplinarian" I had heard him repeatedly described as, but he also seemed to deal with the teachers, students, parents and even bus drivers with a great deal of compassion and even friendliness. He was unafraid to show how much he liked the children by holding their hands as they walked or by praising good plays in the ball game even though he was on the other side.

The interview ended all too abruptly when he had to go to ring the final bell of the year but, in my drive back to Madoc, I had the feeling that I had just met one of those rare individuals who, although very quiet and softspoken, commands respect from everyone. He struck me as a man capable of much higher and better positions, but who was doing exactly what he wanted to do and happy to be doing it.

To those who fought so hard for Mr. Gough to stay, I say enjoy him while he's there because a man of that calibre will always be in short supply and won't be "forgotten" in a small school unless....

Manpower Report

Bob Wilson, a Madoc store owner, receives a visit from Paul Hayman, the student placement officer of the Madoc Student Manpower office which is open each Wednesday in CHSS. This was a routine visit and Mr. Wilson had already satisfied his summer employment needs.

Student placements still required

The student employment centre has now been established at Centre Hastings Secondary School for the past four Wednesdays. Because both students and employers have currently been using our services, the centre has now been able to reach last year's record setting pace. To date, 17 placements have been made.

As mentioned in previous editions, the student placement officers, (SPO's) have been visiting with employers. In the Madoc-Marmora areas, 64 employer relation visits have already been made. In this article, I would like to express the value of you providing student employment.

As most people are aware, students are willing and able to work during any hour of the day. In addition, they are eager to take employment for any duration of time - should it only be a few hours, a few days or a few weeks. Because of this accessibility, students are excellent substitutes for your regular staff, should they go on vacation or experience a period of illness. It is also advantageous to have students available for the peak business periods. Even if these periods last only a few hours per week, students are still willing to work. Once you have employed students, you have developed a valuable resource which could eventually be tapped. Not only are the students always easily accessible for part-time work during the summer and the winter, but they are also a trained employee which may eventually be used as a full-time staff member.

In relation to homeowners, students are also very helpful. It is the summer which allows you to have minor repairs done to the house, or possibly have a major clean-up conducted. As for the grounds, students are always willing to help a homeowner get those weeds under control or help maintain the garden plot.

If you need a student, call us at C.H.S.S. on Wednesdays, between 9 - 4 p.m., 473-2451, or in Belleville anytime throughout the week at 962-2586.

Whatever your need, hire a student today!

stated that he had never heard a greater testimonial to a principal than what he had heard that night.

A round of applause preceded the departure of the delegation from Madoc Township which included several members of that council. Although the delegation was surprised that they had received a decision that quickly, they were no less happy at the way the board had changed their original decision. They stuck by their statements about Mr. Tate's statements in Cooper but felt that since they had achieved what they had set out to do, they would not press the issue further.

What happens now to the other principals who were also being transferred and how does the Board of Education replace the man they said couldn't be replaced? Dave Weir will be the principal of the Tweed school next year, John Miller, the vice-principal of Queen Elizabeth in Belleville will be the new principal of Earl Prentice in Marmora while Mr. Ken Gillies becomes the vice-principal of Bayview D.R. Atkins School Unit in Belleville. The last two appointments become effective on September 1st.

Gas from landfill waste studied

The effects of gas which can originate from waste buried in landfill sites are being studied by an Environment Ontario research team. It will be a three-year, $287,500 project funded by The Provincial Lottery.

The project is focused on the possible effects of waste-generated gas on land and buildings adjacent to landfill sites. A contract for the project has been awarded to Hydrology Consultants Limited of Mississauga as the prime consultant, and $145,000 has been provided for the first phase. New information obtained will assist in planning the establishment of structures near completed landfill sites.

After an assessment of all past research on the subject, Hydrology Consultants Limited will select various sites of different geological, climatic and moisture conditions and of different age, size, depth and type.

MIDWEEK

by: Glenn Garnett

Death was instantaneous. A policeman leans in the window of your car and feels for a pulse. There is none. He reaches into your pocket for a wallet, for identification of some kind. Therein is your licence, and behind that, probably something you hadn't thought about twice since you signed it: a statement willing parts of your body to some recipient you would never know.

This scene takes place occasionally on the highways of Ontario, setting into motion the machinery of the Human Tissues Gift Act, a means for a deceased person to surrender parts of his body he will never need again to someone who is in desperate need of them.

There is still a lot of controversy surrounding the Human Tissues Gift Act. Some people wince at the thought of signing over parts of their body. Some religious groups absolutely forbid it. But since the first set of eyes were donated to the eye-bank in the mid fifties, the attitude of the public has been changing as the generations pass. Today, people are getting used to the idea. They realize that perhaps the most selfless gift is giving oneself.

Janice Zarglis is the clerk for the Human Tissues Act in the Coroner's Building in Toronto. She worries about the kind of story I will write because public trust is still shaky. Her job is reassurance; she speaks with dozens of people a day who want assurance that their or a loved one's body will be treated with respect. For all the grimness that her job must entail she is pleasant to talk to.

Until 1975, the department responsible for human tissues was the Ministry of Health. But because of its close relation with the Coroner's office, it was moved there. It is now the responsibility of Dr. H.B. Cotnam, chief coroner of Ontario.

"Since 1976, we began to get funds for an advertising campaign," says Ms. Zarglis. "Essentially, the campaign is still relegated to pamphlets, but it's a means of making more information available to the public. They know who we are and where to reach us."

About two million pamphlets have been placed in police stations, hospitals, banks and even supermarkets. Doctors, she adds shyly, don't like to display them in their offices.

The response to the call for donations has been favourable. In 1955, the Toronto Eye Bank averaged a pair of eyes a month. Today, it isn't unusual for over a hundred to be donated. Eyes are still the most common gift, but an item that is still in heavy demand. Parts of the eye can be used to repair damaged ones, and once in awhile, sight can be returned to a blind person.

One reason for the increase in tissue donations is the success of local doctors in removing and preserving organs from donors. In some cases, the organ has to be

Body politics:

some say it's sacrilege, but more are saying it's the greatest gift of all kept functioning, and all must be transported quickly to a hospital where a recipient may be waiting.

Eyes and kidneys are the most notable donations, but there are other parts that can be used. Pituitary glands of the brain can be extracted to produce a growth hormone for the treatment of dwarfism, a deficiency which affects children at an early age. Joints are desperately needed for transplants. Lungs, livers, bones, spleens and parts of the brain are in demand for cures for diseases. The door is still open on other parts of the body being used for future transplants, but researchers can't find out if they don't have the parts to work with.

"Our biggest problem is getting people to prepare in advance," asserts Ms. Zarglis. "Besides signing a donor card, it's a good idea to tell a next of kin, family doctor or a friend of your intentions. After a death it's very hard for the next of kin to make a decision to donate body tissue. It's easier if it has been planned ahead of time."

Eligibility for donation is another grey area. If a body is ridden with disease or is mutilated, doctors will not consider removing organs. Donors must also be the age of majority, and even a donor of 90 years of age can contribute useful parts. For example, the eye contains a material called 'sclera'. Even the most nearsighted person's eyes can be used for this material which is useful as a stitching thread for surgery.

Speed is essential, and these days, police and local doctors are trained to look for donor cards and to act quickly to save undamaged organs. O.P.P. helicopters are at the disposal of the Metro-Orean Retrieval Unit if it has to go far afield to recover donated organs.

Another area of tissue donation is medical research. There are eight universities in Ontario that need bodies for research and for medical training. The University of Toronto, for instance, received 269 bodies last year for its Department of Anatomy. The procedure for handling this case is delicate. After a memorial service, the body is sent to one of the eight schools. A hitch here is that the next of kin has to pay for the transport. After a two to three year period, the body is buried and the next of kin may appear at the ceremony. The burial is performed at the School's expense. In the case of organ donation, the body is returned to the next of kin for burial or cremation.

Is it worth it? "The transplant success rate is climbing and is now around 75 per cent," says Ms. Zarglis. "Body rejection is not the factor it used to be." "There are still religions that balk at tissue donations. Orthodox Jews are concerned that the body should return to the ground in the exact form it first came to earth."

"If you could see what they've done, I'm sure you would be satisfied that it's worthwhile."

ROMANY-RYE toys & books

If your child likes some of the finer things in life, then it might surprise you to find that Marmora now has a book and toy store with a 'little extra'.

It's the Romany Rye Shop, and it's located next to the Marmora Herald. The owner of the store moonlights as an ace reporter and managing editor of the Herald, a role he hopes to continue. Patrick Redican opened the Romany Rye Shop last week, and a casual perusal of his wares reveals a taste for books and toys from exotic faraway (freudian slip) places.

Romany Rye, incidentally, means gypsy gentleman. The term is borrowed from a nineteenth century novel whose title momentarily escapes the store's owner.

It's not a brand new store, exactly. It was operated at Mr. Redican's residence for about a year, but he found that living in a store had its drawbacks, not to mention a tricky staircase having a few drawbacks for the customers. Beginning in March, he started working on his new store, and the grand opening begins a new 'double life' for Pat Redican.

"I plan to continue as managing editor and operate the store full-time, he says. Romany Rye still deals in used books of every description, but also new kid's books, foreign handcrafted toys, Chinese and Indian kites and games. Pat says the store has things that can only be described as 'a little bit nicer'.

"I feel that there is a lot of potential in small towns for operating stores for needs that are taken care of in larger cities," he says.

Pat Redican, a city-boy himself, says there's a much more relaxed atmosphere in small towns.

"The thing I like about them is that they provide room for personal development. You can't get that in the city."

And you can't get some of the things he sells in most small towns. Pat Redican is hoping people will walk down the street instead of drive for hours to buy what he is selling.

Eyes should be high on pre-vacation checklist

Highway travel during the coming months may afford a relatively safe and appealing method of vacationing. But with modern car comfort, 55 miles per hour still doesn't feel like your body is travelling down the road at nearly a mile a minute. The Ontario Association of Optometrists urges motorists to think of safety first this summer and to consider more than just a holiday.

High-speed driving (55 m.p.h., or nearly 81 feet per second is high-speed driving) affects at least three visual abilities; acuity, field of vision and distance judgement.

The standard letter height on a traffic sign is five inches. A driver with less than normal vision (say 20/50 or 6/15 under the metric system) must be 117 feet from a standard sign before he can read it. If that sign is telling him there is danger ahead, even under the best possible road conditions, that driver, at 60 m.p.h., will be 164 feet past the sign before he could stop. With normal vision, or inadequate vision corrected to normal, the sign could have been read at a distance of 280 ft. At 55 m.p.h., even with slightly delayed reflexes the driver could have stopped before reaching the sign. If the letters on the sign are translated into a bouncing ball five inches in diameter, your ability to stop within that margin may mean the difference between life and death for a child chasing it onto the road.

The faster you drive, the more you have to concentrate on the road directly ahead. As a result, it has been estimated that a horizontal field of vision of 180 degrees is reduced by 2/3 to 60 degrees at 50 miles per hour! This makes it particularly more difficult to see objects approaching from the sides or rear, for example, another car moving up when you decide to pass or change lanes.

Prolonged distance driving can seriously affect vision, and safety. Fatigue can magnify the glare of an oncoming set of headlights, and lengthen the eyes' recovery time. Slowed visual responses may mean no chance at all for a pedestrian, or the driver himself, in an unexpected situation. "Regular stops to maintain alertness are not merely a convenience—they are a necessity," says Dr. R. Newhouse, President of the Association, who in his year as President is required to drive constantly to visit all the districts.

Some drivers approach night driving with little or no added caution. Even though vehicle and pedestrian traffic is lightest at night, it accounts for nearly 60 percent of all fatal traffic accidents. If glasses are prescribed for distance seeing, they should especially be worn during night driving. Sunglasses should come off even before twilight, and your headlights should come on. Even though the road may not light up any more in the early evening, it makes you instantly visible among the shadows to another oncoming driver.

The Chairman of the Vision and Driving Committee, Dr. H. Thompson, warns that there are also other considerations. "Common sense should prevail in use of tobacco, alcohol and other drugs," he says. Certain drugs, for example, can seriously impair vision. Barbiturates, tranquilizers, narcotics, even cold tablets can affect colour perception, can dull contrasts, and fog visual acuity. Alcohol in particular can have the same effect as dropping a grey visor in front of your eyes. You need more illumination to distinguish objects and if dazzled by a sharp light, you need a much longer time to recover your vision, reports the Ontario Association of Optometrists.

President Newhouse also adds a word of caution, that vision is as much a part of safe driving as the steering wheel or brakes. A wise traveller will check his car over thoroughly before departing on a long trip. It only follows that the driver's eyes should be included in the pre-trip checklist:

- 1) Glasses—If they've been prescribed, wear them.
- 2) Sunglasses—Don't take chances with inferior sunglasses; and don't wear them at night, or even at dusk.

3) Fatigue—Avoid driving if your eyes are tired, and ache or burn.

4) Speed—Slow down drastically at night.

5) Vision—Be sure your eyes are fully equipped for driving, a wide field of vision, sharp acuity, good depth perception, good muscle co-ordination, good night vision.

6) Limits—Know your visual limitations and take steps to minimize them. Use extra rear-view mirrors if necessary, fender guides, foglights, and keep your seat as close as possible to vertical.

7) Assistance—Help your eyes. Clean all windows, mirrors, wipers, defoggers, etc. before starting out.

By taking the time to check your visual system as carefully as you do your mechanical one, you eliminate one more potential hazard and multiply the chances for a completely safe, and thoroughly enjoyable summer vacation, says the Ontario Association of Optometrists.

"We don't get to know people when they come to us; we must go to them to find out what they are like."

85 women pilots participate in Operation Skywatch

Operation Skywatch took off today, with 85 women pilots flying in a program of environmental surveillance flights across southern Ontario in conjunction with the Ministry of the Environment.

Operation Skywatch is a co-operative project between Environment Ontario and civil pilots from four chapters of the Ninety-Nines Incorporated, the international organization of women pilots.

"We started the program in 1978 as an experiment involving 20 pilots from the Ninety-Nines First Canadian Chapter, and it was tremendously successful," said Environment Minister Harry C. Parrott, D.D.S. "Operation Skywatch provides the ministry with an on-going environmental monitoring system, and the pilots with an opportunity to participate in an area of community concern which also involves the flying they enjoy."

The program was launched simultaneously at Buttonville, Hamilton, London and Ottawa airports after pilots were presented with flight logs and first assignments. Dr. Parrott participated in the ceremony at Buttonville, north-east of Metro Toronto.

"Operation Skywatch has proven itself to be more than a good idea but it's success story really belongs to the Ninety-Nines, who have volunteered their time and skill to flying for a clean environment," said Southeastern Regional Director Ralph Moore. "Their enthusiasm will encourage other local groups to take an active interest in their environment."

Representing the pilots in Ottawa, Suzanne Frogley, local chairman of the Ninety-Nines Eastern Ontario Chapter, said, "Operation Skywatch is an opportunity to put our training as pilots to work for something we're all concerned about—a clean and safe environment."

The pilots have volunteered their time and aircraft operating costs to patrol areas of environmental interest or concern. The ministry ran training sessions in April and May to familiarize the volunteers with basic environmental law, pollution pinpointing and aerial photography.

Pilots are assigned flights to monitor shorelines for oil spills, as well as areas of aquatic vegetation, industrial waste and dense smoke. A pilot-observer team surveys and photographs a planned flight route and reports all observations to Environment Ontario in a detailed flight log for each surveillance assignment. In case of emergency, the pilot contacts local control tower by broadcasting the code words, "OPERATION SKYWATCH" and giving details of environmental problems over frequencies normally used by private pilots; control tower then relays the message to the regional Environment Ontario office.

Operation Skywatch now has flights monitoring all of southern Ontario. Weather permitting, this summer's program will continue to the end of October.

Mighty maples attacked by little mites

Mighty maples can develop wart-like lumps in the upper sides of leaves, but there is no need for alarm. Prof. C.B. Kelly, Pest Diagnostic Clinic advisor, says home gardeners should accept one of nature's phenomena—mites.

There are different kinds of mites according to the shape of wart or gall they cause. Bladder gall mites favour silver and red maples, while spindle gall mites attack sugar maples as well. Pile mites infest sugar and red maples.

The life cycles of these mites are similar. The tiny mites winter under the tree's bark, then crawl to the leaves in spring to lay eggs. The tree responds by forming green or red wart-like galls around the eggs.

"Where the infected leaves are at eye level, the problem seems most severe," says Prof. Kelly. "Mites do not cause appreciable harm to big maples."

However, severe infestation can deform leaves on saplings or nursery stock, and can damage the appearance of valuable ornamental trees. These cases require control measures next year.

"Spray with lime sulfur before the buds open and at a temperature above 2 degrees Celsius," says Prof. Kelly. "Stone statues, lawn furniture, birdbaths, and other such objects must be protected or removed before using this chemical."

"Another control method is using malathion when buds are bursting on a warm day, at least 20 degrees Celsius. This product cannot be used on Crimson King Norway maples."

Oil can also be applied successfully during the buds' dormant stage, except on sugar and Japanese maples. Prof. Kelly warns that these control sprays must never be mixed. Care must be taken not to inhale the spray drift. Skin and eyes should be protected while spraying.

Useful information on mites and other pests is available in the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food Publication 64, "Insect and Disease Control in the Home Garden". To obtain a copy, contact your local agricultural extension office or write the Information Branch, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, Legislative Buildings, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1A5.

Grass clippings as mulch could be savers

Don't throw away grass clippings. The could prove to be lifesavers for your garden says Russ Gomme, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist.

Grass clippings can be used as a mulch to prevent flower and vegetable gardens from drying out while you are on vacation. Homeowners should begin to save clippings in May and June while grass is growing quickly, advises Mr. Gomme. Clippings collected this spring will give you a good supply for the summer.

After mowing the lawn, allow the clippings to dry thoroughly. One day is usually long enough. Once they are dry, store clippings in plastic garbage bags until they are needed. Just before you leave for vacation, spread the dry clippings around vegetable plants and flowers. Clippings spread about 8 to 10 cm deep (3 to 4 inches) will help retain soil moisture and keep plants healthy for up to 10 days.

"If you have to step into the garden to spread the clippings, water the garden after mulching," advises Mr. Gomme. "Small flower beds and borders should be watered thoroughly first and then mulched. When you return, dig clippings into the garden soil, or rake them out, and add them to the compost heap."

One foot in the furrow'

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, Eldale Rd. Elmira Ont N3B 2C7

This column is no longer a voice crying in the boondocks about the desecration of agricultural land in Ontario.

Two or three times in twelve months I have decried the decision by the provincial government to allow a 320 acres amusement park 20 miles north of Toronto.

Canada's self-styled national magazine, Macleans, now has joined the chorus. It's too late of course, because all the decisions to bring this cartoon platoon to Canada have already been made. It is refreshing though to have such a prestigious publication as Maclean's take a rather cynical view of the park.

Rod McQueen penned the piece. He started it by saying that the appalling American attacks on Canada such as the War of 1812 were repelled but insidious other invasions such as border television stations and Canadian Club luncheon toasts to U.S. presidents, roll on.

McQueen said the invasion this time led by Yogi Bear and Fred Flintstone.

Maclean's opposes the move strictly on American money being poured into Canada. I suppose that too, is important, but I have been against it simply because it will engulf far, far more acres than the 320 inside the park.

For those of you unfamiliar with the planned park, it will be called Canada's Wonderland, a $105-million deal, financed jointly by Taft Broadcasting Co. and the Canadian investment partner, Great-West Life Assurance Co. These two giants have formed Family Leisure Centres of Canada Ltd.

The entrepreneurs have gone through six years of battle with local people plus bureaucratic hurdles such as the Foreign Investment Review Agency and the Ontario Municipal Board and the Ontario Cabinet. The cabinet, by the way, smiled indulgently through the red tape because members, apparently, favored the plan from the beginning.

Why? Well, because it will provide 250 permanent jobs—a paltry number considering all the farm land that will be gone forever—and 2,500 seasonal jobs. As a professor of journalism, I should be happy that some students will get summer jobs at the park. I would rather preserve the farm land than give students a summer job in Wonderland, no matter how beautiful it may become. I can see it in all its phoney glory now. I would rather see acres of new-mown hay or grain than Yogi Bear or that stupid nincompoop of a Fred Flintstone. No man can be that stupid.

The park will feature rides, shows, shops, entertainment, a man-made, 150-foot hill and a 100-foot wide waterfall. It is one of five U.S. parks owned by Taft Broadcasting along with 16 U.S. radio and television stations.

How did Taft and Great-West get together? Through a conversation between Lloyd Taft and Canadian Paul Desmarais of the huge Power Corporation, one of the biggest conglomerates in Canada. Desmarais and Power Corporation control Great-West Life. See the corporate connection? Great-West has, according to Maclean's, committed $23 million to the new company for 25 percent of Canada's Wonderland.

That, then, is where your money goes, my friends.

To help an American company build a leisureland on some of the best farm land in the province.

The company hopes each Canadian family that visits this tinsel wonderland will spend $60 in an eight-hour visit.

Cheez! Sixty Bucks? I am not, as quoted in the Maclean's story, against children having fun. But $60 sounds, well, like a ripoff to me.

But I'm just a little old horse farmer in the back country crying bitterly as this insidious gobbling up of farmland continues unabated. Because it won't just be 320 acres under this phoney fairyland. The surrounding area for 10 miles will be permanently affected by hamburger stands, motels-hotels, reptile houses and gawd knows what else. Triple that amount of land will be affected.

And most of the profits will go back to Uncle Sam, too.

The Leaning Tower of Pisa has tipped an additional foot in the last century.

Forest land on decline

One of the most noticeable effects of the shift towards intensive agriculture and urban sprawl is the decline in the extent of forest land. In some parts of Ontario, the trend towards forested islands in a sea of open country is particularly striking. Essex County, for example, with only 8 per cent of its area in woodlots, lost over 9,000 acres of forested land between 1955 and 1972.

Wildlife populations are affected by this loss of habitat. However, there is now evidence that the breaking of forests into smaller and smaller fragments causes the outright loss of some woodland species of wildlife in the entire area.

It has been known for many years that some large mammals, such as the grizzly bear or timber wolf, need large blocks of relatively undisturbed forest to breed successfully. But now studies by well-known American ornithologists, including Chandler S. Robbins, a popular science author, are showing that this loss of sensitive species holds true for smaller areas as well.

Robbins studies the songbird population of a woodlot near his Maryland home over twenty-five years, as it became increasingly reduced and fragmented. He identified the broad-winged hawk, whip-poor-will, yellow-throated vireo, and six species of warblers as formerly common birds which no longer nest there. Six other songbirds have suffered reductions in their numbers. Other studies in New England have yielded similar results. One coincidence which may be significant is that all of the species lost are long-distance migrants.

Traditional thinking among wildlife managers has held that breaking up large blocks of forest increases wildlife productivity, since the new edges created between forest and open land tend to increase the diversity of birds breeding there. However, Chandler's work suggests that we also lose some of our most attractive songsters by such fragmentation.

Ontario has 272 nesting species of birds. Obviously, if we are to keep them all, we will have to maintain some large blocks of forested land in Southern Ontario as well as the north, so that the songsters who need undisturbed tracts of deciduous forest can nest in peace.

Buckhorn community art show

One of the highlights of the 1978 Buckhorn Wildlife and Art Festival and Sale was the painting contest which drew entries from several schools and amateur artists in the surrounding area. The contest, held in conjunction with the inaugural art festival disclosed the fact that there are many promising amateur artists residing or vacationing in Ontario. Some of the submitted works were exceptional. Now, with the second annual wildlife festival well into its organizing stage, this year's painting contest has added a new class, that being for "senior citizens" (65 and over). There is no entry fee.

Most schools in Peterborough and Victoria Counties have been supplied with entry forms. Those wishing to submit a painting must do so on Saturday, August 11th or Sunday, August 12th between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Classifications are: Children 6 years and under; 7 and 8; 9 and 10; 11 and 12; Teenagers, (13 to 19); amateurs, (20 to 64) and Senior Citizens (65 and over).

CAPE BUFFALO

SYNCHERUS CAFFER III-5

In Africa the water buffalo are represented by the African, or Cape buffalo. This bulky animal is one of the most dangerous mammals to be found anywhere. Weighing about 800 kg., on average, with much larger individuals reported, the horn span of some mature bulls is more than a meter in width. It is said that more big game hunters have been killed by the Cape buffalo than by any other African animal.

Cape buffalo prefer areas of open pasture, in proximity to covering jungle and swampy ground, where they can wallow. Other than man, they have few natural predators, being capable of defending themselves against (and sometimes killing) lions, who dare attack only the old, the sick or immature individuals. The leopard is a threat only to newborn calves. All attempts to turn the Cape buffalo into a "useful" animal by crossbreeding with domestic cattle have so far proved futile.

Be careful with barbecue starter

If your barbecue isn't starting fast enough to suit you, don't squirt starter fuel at it from the can. When the flame flares up it could flame back up the stream to the can and you'd have an explosion in your hands.

Don't start it under a tree or in the garage or on your balcony, any place where the burst of flame could be dangerous. And don't use a barbecue indoors without making sure there is proper ventilation. People have actually been known to die of asphyxiation because a glowing barbecue used up all the oxygen in a room.

St. John Ambulance reminds you that when someone is burned, you don't run for the butter dish. If it's a minor burn, ointments don't do any good, if it's a serious one, they could make things worse. If nothing else, the grease has to be washed off when the victim gets to the hospital before proper treatment can be started.

St. John Ambulance First Aid training teaches that if someone suffers a first degree burn, a minor one, soak the burn in cold water, or hold it under cold, running water until the pain goes away. Then leave it alone. Don't even cover it.

Sidewalk sale

Next weekend's sidewalk sale is not just open to downtown merchants. Arts and crafts people are welcome to take part and are urged to contact Debra Anne Wiggins if they would like to participate.

Many of the merchants and business people in Madoc are getting behind the annual event and are trying to add new ideas to this year's sidewalk sale. The Madoc Co-op is giving away free hamburgers on Saturday, they will have a photographer available for family photo sessions and regular customers will get 10 percent off all merchandise bought on that day. Bob Bancroft of the Madoc Hotel will again be having a street cafe while many local food outlets will be serving specialty foods along the streets. Many local and Canadian crafts will be available.

It appears that the weatherman may co-operate this year so all we need now is lots of people looking for good buys. That is the objective of the sidewalk sale and it is hoped that local people as well as tourists in the area will get out and support our local merchants who are striving to give their customers good buys as well as good service.

Kid's weekend

The Madoc Recreation Committee is trying to organize a Kids' Weekend for August 18th and 19th but they are in desperate need of volunteers to assist them in the planning of the event and to bring new ideas to the group. A meeting is to be held at the Madoc and District Recreation Centre on Wednesday, July 11th, to discuss the events to be held on the weekend and some of the problems encountered last year. Anyone who could give assistance or ideas to the committee would be welcome at the meeting.

The organizers are hoping to include many of the things that made last year's Kids' Weekend such a success. Things like a bike parade, mutt show and fun fair are being considered while the committee also hopes to get new suggestions to make the weekend even more successful.

For those of us who are old in years but young at heart, a new and special attraction has already been added to the weekend. Reeve Deline and Councillor Connerty have consented to take pies in the eyes and this promises to be a real crowd pleasing event. However, you are warned to get there early and claim your pies because it has been rumored that both men may invest in a few pies themselves.

If a few more ideas like the above were given to the Recreation Committee, the weekend has to be a success. If you can think of something that will make the weekend a hit for the kids, come to the meeting on Wednesday night and volunteer your services. The happy faces on that weekend will more than make up for any work that you might have to do now.

Big fish contest

The First Annual Moira Cottagers for Clean Water Big Fish Contest, running from July 7th to October 8th inclusive, is now underway and open for entries by any one who catches a fish in Moira Lake. The organization felt that all too often, only bad things are discussed by their association and many of them felt that they wanted to do something that was fun and could involve everybody, not just the cottagers on the lake. The original idea was that of Murray Skinner, a cottager on the lake and

Reeve charged with conflict of interest

Madoc Reeve, Tom Deline, has been charged by Councillor Ian Connerty with "conflict of interest" pertaining to the purchasing of Clarke Freightways property by Mr. Deline while the same property was being considered for a test well by the Village of Madoc. A court appearance is scheduled for July 18th at 10 a.m. in Belleville.

Reeve Deline publicly declared a "possible conflict of interest" at a special meeting of council on May 10th after having informed the clerk-treasurer, Marilyn French, of the situation two days before. Reeve Deline says he initially declared the possible conflict to bring the issue into the open after being "harassed" by Councillor Connerty. He does not believe there is a conflict of interest.

Councillor Connerty says that not only has Reeve Deline a conflict of interest now, but that he acted illegally by discussing the matter in at least one and possibly three council meetings while the conflict existed. (Reeve Deline has removed himself from any further discussion on the matter since his declaration in the May 10th special council meeting.)

The issue has gone on for quite some time now and it seems to be hindering other council business. Hopefully, the fact that the case is going to court will settle the issue once and for all and allow the council members to get back to their jobs on council. If Mr. Deline is found guilty, he could be forced to resign from council and not sit on council for seven years.

Kinsmen Summerfest

The Labatt's Third Annual Kinsmen Summerfest, held in the Madoc Arena on Saturday, was a roaring success and, although it got off to a slow start, it continued to build as the afternoon wore on and by late evening, the show had reached and bettered the hopes of the Kinsmen. The featured attraction was the Cooper Brothers and Kinsman spokesman and organizer Lorne Hagerman was on cloud nine when he saw the way this band was accepted by those in attendance.

Such events as Hog Calling, Women's nail driving and an amateur hour were interspersed with entertainment by the Cedar Swamp Band and the Cooper Brothers and they supplied some real enjoyment for local communities who all seemed to be able to identify with one or another of the contestants and turned the competition into a community against community event that was laced with a lot of good, down home fun.

The Cedar Swamp Band entertained the crowd from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. with their own brand of country music. However, The Cooper Brothers were the band that everyone wanted to see and it was evident as the time drew near that they expected top notch entertainment. They weren't disappointed! The Cooper Brothers are a dynamic and very talented group of musicians and they can transmit their enthusiasm through their music, to the crowd. This band recently cut a new LP and it is currently taking hit parades all over

North America by storm. This record is rapidly heading towards the top of many of the hit parades and many people don't

Moira Cottagers' Annual Meeting

The Moira Cottagers for Clean Water met at the Kiwanis Centre on Saturday morning at 10 a.m. for their annual meeting. For this meeting, they would not only discuss topics and events of interest to all Moira Lake cottagers, they would also be electing a new slate of officers for another year.

The President of the organization opened the meeting by reminding all those present that the cottagers' association is an organization whose sole purpose is to try and improve the lake and make it a better place for those who are using it, particularly the cottagers. He stated that winter clarity tests were being carried out frequently by Don Genge at Quin-Mo-Lac Camp and, although the clarity of the water still leaves a lot to be desired, the lake has stabilized from earlier tests and, at least, is not getting any worse. He told the thirty or forty cottagers in attendance that Moira Lake meets all of the major requirements to stimulate weed growth. It is shallow and is surrounded by farm land which are two of the major reasons that weeds survive so well in the lake.

He also told the cottagers that the lagoon affluent, which is dumped into the lake twice a year, did meet the necessary requirements and indeed, was well below the requirements. Councillor Daryl Kramp also informed the organization that the municipality of Madoc was going to be upgrading and installing new sewers plus water meters. "The metering alone has cut the volume going into the lagoon by 20 percent and we hope to obtain a 30 percent or better reduction when the project is completed," said Mr. Kramp. The organization had had some trouble getting the treasurer of the cottagers' association. Local merchants will be sponsoring trophies for the event.

There are three classes in the contest: Largest Muskie with a trophy donated by the Madoc Meat Market; Largest Walleye (Pickerel) with a trophy donated by the Madoc Sports Centre; Largest Bass (large or small mouth) with a trophy donated by Kincaid's IGA.

The regulations for the event include:
1) Fish must be caught during their respective open season.
2) Fish must be angled by legal sporting methods.

3) Fish must be weighed and certified at Madoc Meat Market, Kincaid's IGA or Kramp's Variety Store.

4) Winner's name will be placed on permanent (sponsor's) trophy while the winners will receive a small "Keepsake" trophy.

5) Decision of judges is final.
Murray Skinner and the people involved in the weighing will be the judges.

Report from Rebekahs and Oddfellows

The Rebekahs and Oddfellows of Madoc brought a lazy eye machine to the village, lately, to test for amblyopia. There were well over 200 children of pre-school and grade 1 ages tested, with five children being referred to specialists. Hopefully, by catching this problem early, it will be corrected before it does serious or permanent damage to these children. One man came in and told these people that he was very happy to see something like this being done for the community. "If I had had the same opportunity at the age of these children, I wouldn't be blind in one eye now."

The Rebekahs and Oddfellows went to visit June Walker, recently, and had a strawberry social with her. The Rebekahs and Oddfellows also had a strawberry social at the Anglican Church Hall to honour senior members of the organization. Mr. and Mrs. George Allore celebrated their 44th wedding anniversary on the same night.

Eldorado U.C.W.

Eldorado United Church Women met at the home of Mrs. Glenn Boyle with eighteen present. The president, Mary McCann, opened the meeting with a poem. She then conducted a short business period.

The Worship service was led by Blanche Sandford beginning with singing "O God our help in ages past." The 23rd Psalm was recited in unison and the meditation was on this Psalm.

Evelyn Boyle's program was a film entitled "Play Safe" produced by The War Amps of Canada. This Child Amputee program is a film all parents and children should see. Susan Nicolson is one of the participants.

Mary McCann closed with prayer. Edith Boyle held a contest to tax our memories and a delicious lunch was served by our hostess and helpers Susan, Tracey and Laurie McCann.

The Cooper Brothers kept the arena jumping on Saturday night and were even better than expected.

expect it to stop until it hits the top. If you had heard them on Saturday night, you would know why.

Their very entrance on stage seemed to electrify the audience and by the time they had completed their first song, everyone was in the type of mood that you expect to see at a summerfest. They let everyone know from the start that they were one of the best bands (if not THE best) going today and they didn't care if they were entertaining 100,000 people in Toronto or between 300 and 500 people in Madoc, they were going to give their best performance and give the people their money's worth. It was greatly appreciated by the listeners and the Kinsmen. The variety of musical instruments that this band plays was exactly what the doctor ordered and they were able to please each and every person and especially Lorne Hagerman, who had trouble keeping his feet on the ground and could not control his satisfaction at being a part of an organization that continually puts on successful events. Kinsmen, you did it again but, what are you going to do for an encore?

On Friday, June 15th, a bolt of lightning struck a tree in the woods near Ignace, Ontario, which set off a chain reaction of events that would eventually effect from all over Ontario, including some of the residents of Tweed and Madoc. This small bolt of lightning may have seemed insignificant just after it happened, but within a matter of hours, it would become known as Ignace Fire 12, would be responsible for the loss of 1860 acres of Ontario forest and would keep approximately 110 men working at peak capacity for ten days.

On Saturday, June 16th, the Ministry of Natural Resources Fire Centre in Tweed, received a request for two of their district's unit crews to be flown to Ignace to help fight the fire. A list was immediately checked to see what crews were scheduled to go on the next fire and, within minutes, Fred Day and Paul MacDonald were being called and told that their crews would be going to Ignace. Fred Day's crew, from Tweed, consisted of Dave Russell, Ed Woodcock, John Fleming and Pat Whalen while Paul MacDonald's crew, stationed in Plevna, consisted of Bruce McShane, Jim Fleeler, Carl Tooley and John Ross. These crews were aware that they were next to go on a fire, but they had been expecting to go on a small fire in the Tweed District. They were basically ready and, in a very short time, were on their way to Ignace.

They flew from Trenton to Dryden, were bussed from Dryden to O'Brien's Landing, which is fifty miles north of Ignace, and were then flown 70 miles to the fire. Their arrival in camp would have gone basically unnoticed (among the 70 firefighters and 40 support personnel) although crews from this area are highly regarded with the result that some people probably would have remarked, "That's the two crews from Tweed." By the time they arrived in camp, it is late Saturday afternoon. First, you get a place to sleep and then you get something to eat.

Within a few hours a 40 m.p.h. wind turns a nine acre fire into a 1400 acre holocaust

Because you know that tomorrow is going to be a tough day, most of the firefighters want to turn in early but, because of the excitement of being on a "big" fire and the new surroundings, the evening seems all too short and you end up tossing and turning until the early hours of the morning. It seems that you just finally start to sleep and they call you to get up.

The excitement that was evident the night before is now all pervading. When you finally crawl out of the sleeping bag, you grab your coveralls, get washed and head for the breakfast table, where you may also have to pack a lunch or at least, pick up a pre-packed lunch. After breakfast, you are briefed on what your responsibilities will be in relation to the overall fire and you then take your gear and head for the fire. By now, the adrenalin is flowing and you can hardly wait for the initial attack to begin. Your first sight of the fire and smoke stir feelings of awe and apprehension, but the desire to begin fighting the fire soon returns.

Ignace Fire 12 is an awe inspiring sight by the time the Tweed crews get to the fire. On Saturday, an Ignace crew had been dispatched to the fire. The crew flew in over a 9 acre fire and, shortly after landing, had laid a thousand feet of hose in front of the fire to try and stop its progress. However, in the meantime, 40 mph winds had come up. Within three hours, the 9 acre fire had become a 1,400 acre fire and there was no doubt in anyone's mind that this fire now warranted a provincial fire team made up of men from all over the province who specialized in different areas of firefighting (eg. suppression boss, fire boss, camp boss etc.)

On Sunday morning, the two Tweed crews became the second and third crews on the fire. Both crews were put on the area of the fire where the potential for spread was the greatest, partly because they were the second and third crews in, but also because you put your best crews in the critical areas of any fire. On a fire like this, each crew should only have to lay about 3,000 to 4,000 feet of hose. In this first area, Fred Day's crew laid 4,300 feet the first couple of days of fighting fire from of hose (upon arrival in camp, the crew had been supplemented by five Indian firefighters from the Pikangikum Indian reserve and from Poplar Hills, but, fate then got in on the act and changed the wind direction. Fred's crew was then pulled and shifted to the south west corner, where the spread potential was now the greatest. In fighting the fire in this area, the unit crew and the five emergency fire fighters laid 12,300 feet of hose. Fred and his crew were impressed with their Indian counterparts, who were also an experienced crew, and the ten men worked well together. After the first couple of days of fighting fire from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m., when the Tweed crews came in and got in the line for supper, other crew members would say, "That's Fred Day's crew from Tweed." Word had spread quickly about the amount of hose laid by this crew which meant that they would be treated with a great deal of respect by the other men in the camp.

Why are the southern unit crews so highly regarded on fires such as Ignace 12? There are several reasons. In southern Ontario, there are many small fires each year which means that the crews from this area get a lot of experience with initial attacks and most members of the crew have probably been crew leaders many different times. In northern Ontario, the fires are less frequent but much larger.

Also, in southern Ontario, the unit crew members seem to fight fires a lot longer than the northern crews. On Fred's crew, the crew average as far as fire fighting had been fighting fires for nine years. On another had fought fires for nine years. On most northern crews, the crew average will not exceed two years. In the Tweed area alone this year, the crews had fought thirty-two fires by June 27th. The fires were expected to slow down, now, although the summer fires would soon begin and the total would again start to increase in late July and August.

Besides the fire crews and support personnel who fought on Ignace Fire 12, aircraft also played a large part in the suppression of the fire. Four helicopters, an otter, a beaver and a canso were used to assist in water bombing and the transfer of personnel to and from the fire. By Wednesday, the fire was completely surrounded by the crews and was under control even though it would still spread a small amount before its progress was completely stalled. A weather forecast on the day predicted rain for the following day.

On Thursday, 2.6 milli-metres of rain fell and, although the fire was under control and would have been stopped by the crews, the rain was a welcome sight. It had broken the back of the fire and assisted the crews in that when they began moving towards the centre of the fire with their hoses to extinguish any hot spots within the perimeter of the fire many of these "smokes" or hot spots had already been cooled off or extinguished. After much of the fire area had been gone over by the crews in the mop-up procedure, a specially equipped helicopter flew over the fire to locate any smokes that may have been missed by the crews or that had not been completely extinguished and could continue burning underground to surface later and start another fire. In the area that Fred Day's crew had been covering, only one smoke was detected by the helicopter.

Saturday and Sunday saw the crews beginning to pull their gear off the fire. Each length of hose that had been used in the fire now had to be disconnected and "mellon rolled" (rolled in such a fashion that the end result looks like a mellon) packed in backpacks, taken to helicopter pads, loaded on the aircraft and returned to base camp. By Sunday evening, most of the crews knew that they would be pulled off the fire and returned to their home district on Monday. Several of the local crews would remain on the site for several more days to ensure that the fire was completely out before they could return home.

The Tweed crews arrived in Peterborough on Monday, June 25th and would return to their homes for a welcome one or two days off. Fred's crew was back at work on Wednesday and had just completed or were in the process of cleaning up their gear in preparation for the next fire.

On Monday, June 25, the day the Tweed crews arrived back home, a lightning storm was expected in Ignace and a Ministry of Natural Resources aircraft was on "Red Alert" and would be patrolling the area the next day looking for more lightning strikes.

Lions' misconceptions, village council are main obstacles after seven years

There has been a Lions' Club in Marmora for seven years now and the community has reaped a number of tangible benefits- most notably the $280,000 community centre with its attendant renovations to the Hamilton Crawford Arena. However a prominent member of the club feels that the club's reception in the community- particularly by village council, has been less than ideal.

"I feel that, after seven years, it's time to say something to sound off a little about some of the criticisms we have received from this community and from council," says Bill McKenzie, one of the charter members of the Marmora Lions Club and one of the most involved. Mr. McKenzie is the club's third vice president and public relations chairman this year, having recently retired as Deputy District Governor, a position that gave him responsibility for 37 clubs in central and eastern Ontario.

"I'm doing this now," he said "because I feel that certain misconceptions should be cleared up and because I think our working relationship with village council should be improved."

Council unco-operative

Mr. McKenzie terms the village council "less co-operative than most" in his experience. "Not that they won't co-operate, it just takes them longer to say yes or no. A year ago we offered to repair the bulletin board and buy new letters for the Bowes and Cocks corner sign. We were told that repairs and new letters were being looked into by the village, but at present it is still an eyesore. Paint peeling off, right at the main intersection in town. Quite a tourist attraction."

And that isn't the first time the Lions have run into difficulty with the village. The club had problems over matters as big as the arena renovations and as small as the roller skating timetable (last year the roller skating was postponed so village workers could paint picnic tables in the arena. This year a month before they were due to start Lions still hadn't been able to get a firm date from council).

Bill points to this year's most sensational conflict, the village decision to turn down a Lion offer to make a parking lot for the arena of what they saw as the prohibitive cost of snow removal. Reeve Grant Airhat and Works Superintendent Les McKeown quoted figures of up to $7,000 to clear the 60 by 80 proposed lot, a figure widely questioned and never substantiated. Council, although under constant pressure to do something about parking in the arena area, refused on the grounds that the price tag would unnecessarily raise taxes. The Lions had agreed to foot all capital costs- estimated $30,000.

"Clubs in other towns are constantly being asked for help by their councils to build parks, playgrounds, buildings, parking lots, swimming pools and so on. If we offer to do something like that here, we are given a sort of runaround as if we stand to make a fortune out of it."

All work is without pay

This is another sore point with Mr. MacKenzie and a number of Lions. Although they contribute their time and effort completely gratis there are constant inferences made about them "lining their pockets."

"There are a few in the town who believe we get paid for everything we do, but they are either ignorant or uninformed. They choose not to believe otherwise. They probably have never done anything for anyone."

Bill points out that all the money for the Lions paraphernalia (jackets, pins jewelry) comes from the members themselves and that all conventions and meetings, although they are paid for out of club monies, come from money raised within the club, money which is kept strictly separate from those raised through their public activities.

We have two bank accounts. One is for Activities and all money profited from bingos, raffles, special events and so on goes in to the account. One hundred percent of money earned from the public goes back to the public.

The second account is an Administration account, and this pays for our Conventions and so on. The money in this account comes from private parties for Lions members only such as Club socials, card parties and raffles WITHIN THE CLUB, which are not advertised to the general public. Personal friends are sometimes invited as guests to these affairs, but all profit from these are put into the admin account. This account also pays for stationery, postage, club regalia and so on. Right at the moment I think this account is just about drained for this year.

Criticism demoralizing

Mr. McKenzie feels that this sort of criticism is hard on the club and its members.

"Sometimes we feel we are working too hard because we give so freely and are so often criticized. We have been asked to

Lions' Year-End Report

From Bill MacKenzie, Publicity Director,
Marmora Lions

The Marmora and District Lions Club began its sixth year of service to the people of the district on July 1st, 1978, under the leadership of President Brian Goodchild.

Lion Brian, a hard-working and dedicated individual, will probably be best known for being the president during the busiest year in Lionism for the Marmora club. Some of the items to follow will attribute to his leadership and the co-operation he received during his term of office.

The Annual Summerfest netted a profit of $5100 and was held at the newly-completed Community Arena. This was the largest single fund-raising event of the year. The club also sponsored a summer recreational program in Deloro with about 40 children taking part. Three children from Pennsylvania were hosted on the Lions' Youth Exchange program, and some of the members were busy assisting the Marmora Agricultural Society at the Old Tyme Fiddle Contest. Roller Skating was introduced to the people of the community at the arena, and was well received.

The club sponsored several teen and adult dances during the first few months, held a Fish Fry which showed a $700 profit, hosted a Family Camp-In for Lions from across the district at Glen Allen Park and attended a school of instruction for Lions members in Belleville.

In September, the Lions donated $200 to the local fire department and purchased a new bingo machine for them to replace the one borrowed to start the weekly Wednesday night games for the club. Calendar sales were undertaken at this time with about 450 being sold around the area.

During October the club donated $30 to the Legion Poppy Fund, $60 to the Marmora Curling Club, $125 to the Cordova Recreation Association, $1000 to the Home for Deaf Children in Belleville, $200 to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, $60 to the Marmora Santa Claus Parade Committee, $200 to a fire victim, and held a Masquerade Halloween dance at the Hall.

Approximately 200 pairs of used eye-glasses were rounded up and shipped to needy persons overseas. The wives of the Lions were getting involved along about this time, by catering to social events in the new hall, and had shown a profit of some $500.

Since Lions do not hibernate for the winter, the Marmora pride was no exception. In January the club held a New Year's Eve Dance which showed a $959 profit and later a Robbie Burns Night realizing $265. Another fire victim received $200 and the CARE of Canada organization received $25. Donations also went out to the leader dog school to train dogs for the blind, a donation to the district public speaking program for young people, $100 went to the Peterborough Audiological unit at St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment and conservation of hearing, a $100 donation to Lake Jo, a summer camp for blind persons, $200 to Camp Dorset, which is a camp for treatment and dialysis of kidney disease victims, and $75 to the Sir James Whitney school in Belleville for deaf children.

The local Lions were also involved during the Sled Dog races, cleaning and maintaining the Community Hall for the seven events held inside the building. With

Shannon-O'Connor May Wedding at Sacred Heart Church in Marmora

On Saturday, May 5th at 2 p.m. Carol Anne Shannon, only daughter of Don and Jean Shannon was united in marriage to Clarence Richard O'Connor, eldest son of Jack and Isabella O'Connor.

Rev. P.J. Carty performed the double-ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. T.G. Scanlon of Marysville. The Wedding March was played by Mrs. Hugh Brady her father, wore a floor-length gown of white organza trimmed in Venetian lace and seed pearls. It featured a keyhole neckline and full bishop sleeves. The bouffant skirt was caught up in a large bow at the back and formed a full train with deep ruffles. A long cathedral veil fell from her Juliette cap.

The matron of honour, Mary Ann Derry,

Clarence and Carol (Shannon) O'Connor and Kate O'Connor and Lori March sang before and during the Wedding Mass. The sanctuary was tastefully decorated with large white and blue-tinted mums.

The bride, who was given in marriage by sister of the groom was dressed in a floor length gown of ice-blue polyester. It featured a softly gathered blouson top and elbow length cape sleeves. Mary Ann carried a nosegay of red sweetheart roses and white carnations.

The bridesmaids were Kathy Cook, the bride's cousin, Janet O'Connor, the groom's sister, and friends Mariette Neseth and Lori Shannon. All four attendants wore floor length gowns identical to that worn by the matron of honour and all carried nosegays of red sweetheart roses and white carnations.

The groom wore a tuxedo of ice-blue with a white ruffled shirt edged in blue. His boutonniere was a red rose.

The bride's brother, David Shannon, acted as best man. The ushers were Stan and Art O'Connor, brothers of the groom and Terry and Bob Shannon, brothers of the bride. All wore ice-blue tuxedos, white ruffled shirts, and white boutonnières.

The wedding banquet was held in Sacred Heart Parish Hall. Mr. Al Mumby, uncle of the bride, acted as toastmaster. A dance followed with music provided by Terry Shannon.

Guests were received by the bride's mother who wore a floor length gown of petal pink polyester with a three-quarter matching cape. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses. The groom's mother assisted wearing a pale green flowered floor length gown with a matching bolero jacket. Her corsage was of yellow sweetheart roses.

For travelling the bride chose a three-quarter length olive green skirt with a matching figured blouson top and beige accessories. She wore a corsage of bronze mums. The groom was dressed in a brown and beige co-ordinated suit.

Clarence and Carol travelled to Edmonton, Alberta where both are employed.

Robbie Lake wins McDonald's coloring contest

Robbie Lake (6½) won the MacDonald's colouring contest over 200 other entrants. He was given first prize for the incredibly detailed picture that took him two days to colour. "When we found out Robbie was only 6½ years old, we had no choice but to give him first prize," said one of the judges. Robbie went to Belleville shortly after winning the contest to pick up his prizes, a MacDonald backpack, assorted puzzles, balloons, games, a happy meal and of course, a blow-up figure of Ronald MacDonald.

Robbie's mother, Joanne, is the Bannockburn correspondent for the Madoc Review and was a justifiably proud mother.

"Friendly" Movers

The Centre is often involved around this time of year in arbitrating between angry families and their "friendly" moving company.

First, let's get it clear - there is no such thing as a "friendly" moving company. If you swallow their adds you deserve most of what you might get. Moving companies are in the business for one thing and one thing only - to make a profit. Thus they cannot, and will not send empty or near empty vans or trailers across the country. So expect your prized furniture to be packed as tightly as space will allow.

Anti-scratch cloths

Don't be put off by the anti-scratch cloths and cardboard boxes that litter the place while the packing is going on. Sure, these things work well if they are used all the time properly and the boxes are packed carefully. But pause to remember that the truck that hauls away your home will bump and rattle its way from one pick up point to another. Furniture will be on-loaded and off-loaded and the entire load may well have to be restacked or packed in order to make room for the next load.

It's possible with careful packing to put the better part of three small homes into one of those long tractor trailers, so don't expect that your furniture is going to get the royal treatment because it won't. To the moving company it's just another load.

You will undoubtedly be offered some form of insurance coverage by the moving company salesman. It looks good and reads good but try making good on loss or damage and you will find out that you have a man-sized problem on your hands.

Watch what's going on

When the packing is going on be sure to have a witness on hand. Mark down every scratch that is already there and have the moving man witness it. Complain if you feel that anything has not been packed properly. Do it at that time, not later. Check the way your stuff has been loaded and if you are not happy say so then.

If you have to claim, dig your heels in and stand pat. Don't allow yourself to be put off by an indifferent or not interest company. If they will not pay up or give you a hard time it might be as well to call in the superintendent of insurance for the province you are in. But don't let them get away with it.

Back to back wins against the Stirling Selects this past week extended the Madoc Minutemen's undefeated string to five games.

In an abbreviated (5 inning game) in Madoc last Tuesday night, the Minutemen sent eleven batters to the plate in the second inning. Seven hits and eight runs during this inning wrapped up an 8-0 win for the local team. (The rally probably would have been extended but Charlie ("Fleet of Foot") steal a base. (Maybe next time, Charlie). In all fairness to Charlie, he did come up with two long infield hits during the second inning and scored a run. Also supplying some offensive punch were Harley Willemssen with a single, a double and two R.B.I.s and Ted Sexsmith with a double and two R.B.I.s. Sexsmith was the winning pitcher, allowing only two hits, striking out three and walking none.

On Thursday night in Stirling, the same two teams met and for the first three innings it looked as if the Selects were going to get revenge for Tuesday's loss to the Minutemen.

The Selects, with ten hits and eight runs, led the Minutemen 8-1 after three innings. Brian Armstrong started on the mound for the Minutemen but needed help from the Madoc's top relief pitcher, Ted Sexsmith. Although, Army's arm let him down, his bat didn't. With two doubles, a single and five R.B.I.'s Armstrong led the comeback. The Minutemen scored twice in the second innings twice in the fourth and fifth, added five in the sixth and one in the seventh to walk, single, double and triple their way to a 18-8 victory. (Don't worry, Army you are in good company. Expos do that to Steve Rogers all the time.)

Leading the seventeen hit attack was Robert Nickle, hitting a single, double and triple (almost made the circuit); Clayton (the hookie) Whiteman who whacked out two singles, Harold Bailey clubbed a single and double; Ted Sexsmith connected for two doubles, Glen Graham and Bob Willemssen hit a single each. (Charlie, the base-stealer, didn't make it, so his record is still intact).

Sexsmith, in relief, gave up only two hits, no runs, struck out two and walked one.

The Minutemen's record is now six wins, three losses and two ties for fourteen points (or a .636 average) in eleven games. They have five games left to play, one at home, Tuesday night against the Stirling Patz and four away. They play Tweed on the 12th, Stirling Juveniles on the 17th, Hoard's Station on the 19th and a postponed game in Halloway. We'll try to get the league standings for next week.

information and reports on the lagoon from the Ministry of the Environment and Mr. Kramp informed them that the municipality would be taking over the operation of the lagoon next year and that they would only have to go to the municipal offices to get any information after that time. A question was raised about the storm sewers in Madoc and Councillor Kramp admitted that they were not adequate but hoped that the new sewer system would give them better control of run-off water.

The cottagers and their executive expressed a great deal of satisfaction with the Madoc detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police and the job they have been doing of checking the cottages during the winter. Many of them had found tags on their cottages (some of them found several) and they felt that this had contributed to the fact that only one cottage had been broken into that they were aware of. The executive was asked to send a letter on behalf of the cottagers thanking the police for the job they were doing.

Glen Owen, of the Ministry of the Environment, told the cottagers in a letter that weed growth was still a major problem in Moira Lake with milfoil still the principal culprit, but that the algae growth had stabilized at a much lower level than in 1973. Mr. Owen also stated that no detailed survey was planned, now or in the future, for Moira Lake. After some discussion on methods of removing weeds, it was decided that groups of people getting together to remove weeds in their area was still the best method. Methods of mechanical harvesting were discussed but it has been found in other lakes in the Kawarthas that if the weed is only cut and allowed to remain in the lake, it actually acts as a fertilizer for the remaining weeds. Some of the cottagers were already removing their own weeds and had tried and proven some methods of removing the weeds. They were willing to share their knowledge with other cottagers, while some of the cottagers expressed a desire to have the weeds removed or harvested at a cost close to $150 per acre.

Another method of removing the weeds was with chemicals but many of the cottagers were reluctant to pour more chemicals into the lake than those that were already going in by natural causes and, as the discussion went on, the long term effects of chemicals seemed to prove that working together was still the best way. Apparently, these chemicals only kill the thin walled plants, which leaves more room for the thick walled plants to grow and thrive and they cannot be killed by these chemicals.

Another service that the cottagers were happy to hear about was the fact that the volunteer fire departments in the area would come to the cottages and index the cottages in case of fire. By doing this, if a fire occurred in a cottage, the fire department would not be slowed down by having to look for names or ask directions from other cottagers. They could look at a map that would show the exact location of the cottage and how to get there in the shortest time. The indexing, once completed, could also be sent to the OPP to assist them in the event that family problems or emergencies should occur and it became imperative that a cottager be contacted immediately. The executive felt that it would be in the best interest of all the cottagers if they were to insure that each individual was indexed.

The water level of the lake was discussed and total agreement by all cottagers in attendance resulted in the executive being asked to contact the Ministry of Natural Resources to request that all logs and sand bags be left in position throughout the summer. The ministry had previously informed the association that they would try to maintain the July 1st level, but some cottagers had noticed dramatic drops in the level of the water and felt that this might not be adhered to.

The election of officers was last on the agenda and proved to be the simplest part of the meeting. Everyone was very happy with the present executive of David Lally (President), Charles Noble (Vice-president), Murray Skinner (Treasurer) and Fraser Howes (Secretary), so it was moved and unanimously agreed that this executive should continue for another year.

RE: Expansion of Municipal Parking Lot
West of Front Street - Belleville Parking Authority

In order to ensure that the City will have possession of all lands required for the above project, City Council have decided to institute expropriation proceedings with respect to a portion of your property. This action will make it possible to refer the matter to the Land Compensation Board in the event that the parties are unable to come to a settlement.

In view of this decision I enclose the following documents and information:

- 1) Notice of Application for Approval to Expropriate Land, (form 2) as required by Section 6(1) of the Expropriations Act;
- 2) Copy of applicable section of survey plan showing the subject property outlined in red.

I would also point out that while expropriation proceedings have been commenced, this does not prelude further negotiations with a view to reaching a satisfactory settlement.

Yours very truly,

Peter G. Stewart,
Property Acquisition Officer.

Lions: misconceptions, village council are obstacles

hold nights honouring other groups who get paid for their work, but I've yet to see a night honouring the Lions for giving six years of their lives and over half a million dollars of their profits to Marmora. The last thank you we got from any branch of government was for cleaning up the dumpsite six years ago."

Along with money criticisms are complaints that the Lions are a clique, that they are trying to run the town, that they won't give money to whoever asks them. Mr. McKenzie has answers for all of these, although some upset him a good deal.

"As far as running the town goes," he jokes "I think we could be doing a better job of it. We want to make Marmora a better place in which to live. . . we are trying to upgrade the town, but as far as running it goes we would rather leave that to the council."

The idea that the club is a clique is also easily dismissed. "Any man in this community who has something to offer to his fellow man without asking for anything in return can join this group."

Lions' Year-End Report

two pancake breakfasts that week, plus the Saturday night dance, the club added another $450 to the profit side of the ledger. In February another fire victim received $200 in help, while the Canadian Amputees Sports Association was awarded $100. The Lions' International Foundation, which assists earthquake and disaster victims all around the world, received a $20 gift, the Marmora Businessmen's Association, $50, the Children's Nursery School were granted $20 and the sled dog races a donation of $100. The Community Hall received $495 in materials and improvements during the same month.

March saw the Annual Hockey Tournament sponsored by the Lions' Club and returned $1736 for community welfare work. The Red Cross received a $25 donation while the Madoc Fire Department were awarded $100 towards the purchase of a 'Jaws of Life'. In April another fire victim received $200 and the Cancer Society was given $25 towards their work. The ladies of the Royal Canadian Legion were remembered with a $50 donation.

The Marmora Lions twinned with the North Rockland Lions' Club in New York State in May of this year, and were privileged to have the president and vice president of that club as their guests for a weekend. The Marmora club will be returning to New York on an exchange visit this October. The ladies of the club meanwhile, have boosted their efforts as caterers at the hall to the tune of $1040 to this point.

Local blind or handicapped are not overlooked by this club, with several persons in this category receiving transportation assistance from volunteers, with Peterborough, Toronto and Kingston being the destination for many of the treatments and hospital visits. Local groups, such as the senior citizens, scouts and non-profit organizations, are being pleasantly surprised to receive their rental payments for the Community Hall refunded by the Lions' Club.

The Wednesday night bingo games have by far been the club's major source of revenue, with close to $22000 being raised in this fashion, every penny of which is returned to community welfare work.

A fine year, indeed, perhaps one which may never be equaled. All due to the enduring fortitude of 22 dedicated volunteers. To hear those few 'Thank-You's' from time to time seems to make it all worthwhile to these men.

As they start their seventh year of service to this community, perhaps we can wish them well in all their endeavours. You, the people of the Marmora area, are their prime concern.

Businessman awarded local peace prize

Robert Blair, President of Alberta Gas Lines Company, the directors of which are appointed by the Alberta Government, Calgary, was selected as this year's winner of the Annual Man of the Year Peace Award granted by the Lester B. Pearson Peace Park to the Canadian citizen who, in the previous years has made the most outstanding contribution to Canadian unity and, or world peace. The award will be presented to Mr. Blair by Roy Cadwell, Chairman of the Park at the 13th Annual Peace Park Veteran's Memorial Service at St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc, Ontario on July 22nd at 11 a.m.

Previous award winners have been Robert Kohaly, O.C., Dominion President of the Royal Canadian Legion; Judge J.C. Anderson; Pierre Juneau, Chairman of the Canadian Radio and Television Commission; Hon. John Robarts, former Premier of Ontario; Stanley Knowles, M.P., Pierre Berton; Rt. Hon. Jules Leger, Governor General; Arnold Smith, former Secretary-General of the Commonwealth Nations; Mayor Jean Drapeau. Last year's winner was Dr. George Ingnatieff, Career Diplomat.

The nominees are selected by the editors of Canada's leading newspapers and Maclean's. Mr. Blair was nominated by William F. Gold, Editor, the Calgary Herald.

The award was given the Mr. Blair for his Community work with the Y.M.C.A. and the Presbyterian Church in Canada and, as President of Alberta Gas Trunk Lines Company, he is a factor in the preservation of unity in Canada because the availability of natural gas as a source of energy will be a factor taken into consideration by the people of Quebec when they vote on the Referendum. Mr. Blair has a B.Sc. degree from Queen's University and is a Trustee of the University.

Club helps non-profit local organisations

The club gives most of its financial help to non-profit local organizations. "Their ability to 'do it on their own' might come into it as well" Mr. McKenzie says. "We would rather help, say, the senior citizens than the businessmen, since the businessmen are young and strong and able to do things themselves. We have helped both these organizations in different ways."

Mr. McKenzie points out that the printing of a financial statement helps the public monitor these donations. "If we print our statement in the paper as giving twenty five dollars to the Bootleggers and Crapshooters Pension Fund, the public can come back and set us straight. "This is in keeping with the Lions' philosophy that they are dealing with the community's hope it is going to someone who really needs it and we try not to squander any of it."

Mr. McKenzie stressed through out the interview that, while he did not feel he was expressing anything contrary to opinions the majority of Lions held, he was speaking only for himself and not officially for the club. And he also stressed that he found being a Lion and a Marmora Lion rewarding and worthwhile. "At present I would not trade with any club in this district...we have a group that work well together, enjoy each others' company and have some damn good times together. I would like to see another ten or fifteen members to share in the work fun and fellowship of being a Lion."

Agricrew already busy

In its few weeks of operation to date, Agricrew '79 has been to a number of area farms taking on jobs ranging from cleaning out stables, haying and fencing to weeding strawberry patches.

A foreman who is a working member of the crew supervises and provides transportation for the crew to and from the job sites, with the crew providing their own lunch.

The crews are available to be employed by farmers, agricultural societies or any agriculturally oriented group for a fee of $90 daily. Interested farmers should contact their agricultural office as soon as possible, as work agreements set up between the farmer and Agricrew Coordinator are on a first-come, first-served basis. The farmer indicates the work to be done and an alternate plan for inclement weather. He must also provide the necessary tools or supplies for the job.

If you need help painting or white washing your barn, clearing out fence rows, haying, hoeing or any other odd farm jobs you can hire an Agricrew by contacting Karen Warner, Agricrew Coordinator at the Stirling Agricultural Office 395-3393.

World War I injuries set this man to helping others. Now Jim Larkin of Havelock is one of the leading authorities on rehabilitation in Canada

BY JEANNETTE MOORE

Very soon a textbook will be published entitled "Rehabilitation in Canada". The author of that book, written in conjunction with a part-time rehabilitation teacher at Humber College, is a Havelock area resident, Jim Larkin, yet another and very outstanding discovery in my current search for "outstanding human resources of the Havelock area".

What are Jim Larkin's qualifications for taking on the job of acting as an authority on Canadian rehabilitation? The ones that could be cited on the preface of his book are - 10 years service with the Canadian Department of Veteran Affairs working with psychiatric patients, 11 years with Workmen's Compensation Board where he advanced to Assistant Chief Rehabilitation Officer, 2 years Chief of Vocational Rehabilitation Services, Ontario Region, Dept. of Manpower and Immigration, and finally advisor in rehabilitation to the Mental Health Division of Ontario, Ministry of Health. But the more important qualifications which cannot be listed as government posts are - an understanding heart arising out of his natural disposition combined with years of personal experience struggling through his own physical and psychological problems as well as observing and feeling for the problems of comrades around him; and finally applying the wisdom gained to help the suffering of others.

World War II decided life's work

It was World War II that set Mr. Larkin's face towards the task to which he has devoted most of his life. I spoke to him of his life's work recently while sitting in the living room of his new country home which he built on a rise of land in the picturesque area some eight miles north of Havelock, from which a panorama of countryside interspersed with bushland stretches southward hiding somewhere in that green the village of Havelock.

He was in England during the war on loan to the British army working as an ammunition examiner - a person who tests explosives. At one point he had weeded out an assortment of dangerous and broken-down explosives to be destroyed. He had supervised the transportation of the ammunition to the demolition area and was standing in the centre of the lot, when, by some accident or incompetence on the part of fellow workers, the pile was prematurely discharged.

Saved from the holocaust

There stood Jim Larkin in a spot from which there was no escape as the explosion took place. What transpired next he cannot explain, but it has been a matter of conjecture for him and many others since. Instantaneously with the explosion, he felt a push on his left shoulder from behind, a push with such force that he was shoved through the holocaust to safety badly injured but alive.

There were many days, months and years of suffering both physical and psychological to follow as he underwent plastic surgery and other operations to repair his badly shattered body, and as he sought to re-establish himself psychologically to the physical crippling, always, in the back of his mind was the realization that he owed his life to something other than his own actions. He groped for answers to what he should do with this life that had been saved for him if and when he regained mobility.

Rehabilitation

Upon returning to Canada he remained in Christie Street Hospital, Toronto, the original W.W.I. military hospital, for over a year where, as he regained the use of his hands, and as he recuperated from internal injuries, he had hours to think about his problems and those of the injured around him. One of those with whom he was associated was Ed Dunlop who had been blinded by the explosion of a live grenade he had picked up to throw out of harm's way. Mr. Dunlop was another who, knowing suffering and the tremendous difficulties of mentally re-adjusting to physical disabilities, became interested along with Jim Larkin in rehabilitation of the disabled. Both of these men had very stable personalities at the outset since the army required for its ammunition control and defusing unit only the psychologically sound - those with the least number of hangups - and they both had, on entering the service, passed the necessary psychological tests to qualify for their jobs. And so, realizing their own mental anguish as something with which they had much difficulty in coping, they could have some understanding of the difficulties others, perhaps not so stable, were experiencing.

"Some just could not adjust to having a physical disability," said Mr. Larkin. "It loomed too large in their minds. Many were driven to depression and suicide. I became greatly concerned and interested in the whole problem and among other things I saw how occupational therapy could allow the mind to concentrate totally for a while on some interest so as to divert the person from thinking about his personal problems - a definite step towards regaining health of mind."

Joined Veteran Affairs

As they recovered, Ed Dunlop and Jim Larkin took on jobs with Veteran Affairs. Ed became Director of the Casualty Rehabilitation section of Veterans' Affairs and Jim worked under him. He spent 10 years at Sunnybrook specializing in psychiatric rehabilitation after Dr. Bailey, the chief psychiatrist at that hospital, asked the Veterans' Affairs department for his services. At the Compensation Board where he next decided to get involved as assistant chief department head he feels he was able to contribute much beneficial change because of his past experience. In Sunnybrook he had been associated with the problems of patients dependent on alcohol and drugs. With his new post he brought his experience to bear on the problems of persons seeking help because of injury, and with his attitude of a total personal approach and with complete charge of the industrial casualties he recommended and saw implemented a lot of changes in the Board. He concentrated on not just the injury the person had sustained but his reaction psychologically to that injury.

Next with the Department of Manpower and Immigration, he served as Chief of

"When one has to project from book learning to practical application, experience has the edge."

Rehabilitation Services of Ontario. This was later reclassified as Chief of Manpower Development. From there, his job as advisor on rehabilitation to the Ontario Minister of Health meant he visited hospitals and established rehabilitation programs in hospitals, including industrial activity and recreational services. So it is clear many people in Ontario and Canada owe a lot to Jim Larkin.

Retired to Havelock

Three years ago he decided to retire prematurely from institutional work and move to this area. He retired, that is, from a regular job, but not from his life's work.

He owes much of his knowledge about psychology, from a scholastic viewpoint, to his wife Gloria who continued her studies in psychology after leaving school and going to work and finally acquired a doctorate in psychology.

"Gloria and I work as a team," said Mr. Larkin. "She has been a tremendous help to me on the technical side. But after so many years of involvement with government and institutions we wanted more freedom to ourselves and we felt that unencumbered by the routine of formal duties we'd be able to develop in the way we wanted. But my job was never 'a job' to me. It was work I liked and wanted to do and I am happy I could contribute to the rehabilitation field."

In 1970 he was instrumental in organizing 22 groups of rehabilitation workers and getting a federal charter for the Canadian Association of Rehabilitation personnel. And he continues to be involved in many fields. With his continual contact with persons in varying occupations he became interested in a study of the aging and volunteered himself as a subject of study. This program started in 1958 in Ontario under the Ontario Welfare Community and Social Services section. Sister St. Michael Guinan, a recent visitor to Havelock, brought here by Mr. Larkin to speak to the Senior Citizens, helped to establish this study as advisor to the

"This simply teaches us we can help each other, young and old."

Ontario Government. A selection was made of 2000 persons in Ontario to follow through from their middle years as they aged. Annually, they are individually interviewed by a social worker. The first interview was an in depth quiz about age, health, attitudes, family, etc. and yearly a record has been made of changing attitudes, health and financial status, all in strict confidence. And so because of Mr. Larkin's interest and involvement he is actively working with the Social Services Branch on Aging and with pre-retirement courses. He points to his wife Gloria as an example of a person who would not accept the consensus that after a certain number of years it is too late to go to college. "She had to leave university before graduation because of the death of her father. As she worked with the Compensation Board in the Psychology Department doing assessments, it was suggested to her that she should continue her studies for her B.A. and for a doctorate in psychology. She had demurred with 'I'll be 40 by the time I graduate'. The reply was 'You'll be 40 by that time whether or not you return to college'. So she began to study again and was among the top five students in graduating with her B.A."

"Actually, to be older is an advantage in going back to university," said Mr. Larkin. "Kids are quick to pick up details and Gloria would find she might be falling behind on that score but when one has to project from book learning to a practical application, experience has the edge. This simply teaches us that we can help each other, young and old."

The young man who has written "Rehabilitation in Canada" with Jim Larkin's assistance is Hal DeLair. In his time Jim Larkin has written a lot of papers and at one point he set up a rehabilitation class at Humber College where Hal DeLair was a part-time teacher under his direction. The young man saw the opportunity to combine his interest and writing ability with Jim Larkin's knowledge and voila, there will soon be an authoritative work on rehabilitation available for students.

I think you must agree Jim Larkin and Gloria are two of the brightest nuggets I have yet mined from the human lodestone of this area.

Water quality report for Seven Links released

The report of the Ministry of the Environment on the water quality of lakes in the Seven Links Planning Board area was presented to the Board last Wednesday by two representatives of the Ministry, who attended a meeting in the Havelock Municipal Office.

In early 1978 the Seven Links Planning Board requested the assistance of the Ministry in conducting water quality surveys of the major lakes in the planning area. The joint program was arranged with the Planning Board supplying field staff hired under a Canada Works grant, rental truck, field lab and office facilities. The MOE Central Region Office supplied a staff member to oversee the sampling program and report writeup. Sampling equipment and analysis of chemical and biological samples were also provided by MOE. The purposes of the sampling program were: to define the water quality status of the major lakes; to give some indication of the sensitivity of each lake to further shoreline development and to provide this information to the planning board in the form of a publicly released report to assist them in making planning decisions on lakeshore development.

The area studied includes the Townships of Asphodel, Belmont, Dummer and Methuen as well as the Villages of Hastings, Havelock and Norwood. Seventeen lakes and the Trent River were chosen for study and seven complete sample runs were conducted at each lake station through the ice-free period of 1978.

Tests were made for water clarity and checked for chemistry, amounts of crustacean zooplankton, invertebrate and aquatic plants. Chemistry analysis were made for total phosphorus, free ammonia, total Kjeldahl nitrogen, nitrite, nitrate, pH, and conductivity.

The relative water quality status of the lakes according to the results of the survey listing from the least enriched through to the most enriched were as follows: Methuen (least enriched), Kassabog, Oak, Cordova, Twin Lakes, Upper Stony, Belmont, Crowe, Long, Round, Jack Dummer, Lost, South, Sandy, Lower Stony and finally, the most enriched, the Trent River.

It was pointed out that the addition of more phosphorus to a lake can have undesirable water quality effects and some lakes are more susceptible to these effects than others. Added phosphorus supply from further unrestricted shoreline development may be significant in that undesirable changes in water quality could result from the added input. A lake that is potentially susceptible to water quality degradation from further significant phosphorus input can be termed "sensitive". Factors considered in establishing relative lake sensitivity were as follows:

1. Lake morphometry - small, shallow lakes with small drainage basin may present physical constraints to shoreline development. For example East Twin Lake with its relatively small surface area and depth may present constraints to the recreational uses associated with shoreline development. Resuspension of sediments and nutrients could result if normal recreational use is pursued.

2. Lake flushing rate - lakes with high flushing rates are generally more resistant to changes in water quality than lakes with low flushing rates. Lake Cordova with a high flushing rate of over 30 times during 1978 was considered less sensitive to a water quality change brought about by further unrestricted shoreline development than Oak Lake with a flushing rate of 0.19 times.

3. The presence of nutrient accumulation in the bottom water of some parts of a lake may be a sensitive feature - this generally results in increased organic matter from phytoplankton growths.

4. Dissolved oxygen maxima - decreased water clarity in some of the lakes would eliminate phytoplankton species that inhabit the deeper waters resulting in the loss of the biological oxygen depletion in bottom waters. The south end of Jack Lake and Oak Lake were found to have dissolved oxygen maxima within the thermocline which could be lost with further water quality deterioration.

The recommendations, based on the studies, classified lakes as least sensitive, moderately sensitive and most sensitive. In least sensitive, no additional restrictions on shoreline development other than existing bylaws and health unit regulations are recommended. In moderately sensitive, careful siting of septic tank and tile field systems on both registered vacant lots and proposed new development should be carried out by staff of the local Health Unit to maximize the phosphorus retention capabilities of the soils and vegetations on the lot. In most sensitive, further development around lake shorelines and

EMPEROR PENGUIN

APTENODYTES FORSTERI

III-6

The largest penguin, the Emperor stands waist high to a man, and weighs between 20 & 45 kg. Well adapted to an icy climate, these birds live along the coasts and neighbouring seas of Antarctica. They breed during the perpetual darkness of the antarctic winter, gathering at rookeries during the months of April & May.

Courtship begins by a display of brilliant orange ear-patches. No nests are built nor are territories established. Within a few hours after the female lays a single egg, the male positions the egg on top of his feet and covers it with a warm fold of feathered abdominal skin. Shortly thereafter, the female travels over the ice to the open sea to feed, leaving the male to incubate the egg. About 2 months later she will return to feed & brood the newly-hatched chick.

One foot in the furrow' by Bob Trotter

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, Eldale Rd., Elmira, Ont. N3B 2C7

Irate truckers in the United States are creating shortages in supermarkets here.

They're angry about the price of gasoline and diesel oil. Newspapers are carrying horror stories about snipers along the highway and ambushes along interstate roads. Fresh fruits and vegetables are not finding their way through the food chain to our dining tables.

A few of the big buyers have already been quoted as saying they are feeling the pinch. They cannot keep their shelves filled.

For years, farmers in this country have been crying for more protection for Canadian-grown products. The Ontario government has had a Foodland Ontario campaign underway for many months in an effort to persuade shoppers to buy Ontario produce.

Farm writers have been urging people to support Canadian farmers by buying local food items.

The campaign has been moderately successful.

But if Canadians need any more evidence that Canadian food producers should be supported, then the actions of the truckers across the line should provide that evidence.

Think of it: a handful of truckers terrorizing the roads has had an effect in Canadian stores. Think of the ramifications! If the time ever comes when American shoppers want all of a product grown in the States, they'll get it and Canadians will simply do without it.

All the more reason Canadian growers should be supported when they ask for some concessions from senior levels of government. Unfair international trade regulations, for years, have been preventing Canadian farmers from reaching their full potential.

Too many other countries, including the Hew Hess Hay, use all kinds of methods of protecting farmers. And Canadian farmers just cannot compete against the treasures of other nations.

The European Common Market, for instance, has tremendous barriers to protect agriculture. The current French export subsidy for barley going to China is $131 a ton. This is higher than the price Canadian farmers get for barley. In other words, the French government pays a floor price to farmers in France which is higher than the Canadian farmer gets on the open market. And that's just the floor price.

The tariff on some processed meats going to the United States from Canada is 10 times higher than the Canadian tariff on similar products coming here from the U.S.

Canadian farmers are more efficient in many ways than any in the world. They can compete in both quality and price if they are given half a chance.

But government policies in some areas just don't give them a chance. Some recent tariff changes from the last general agreement on tariffs and trade (GATT) meetings have given a few fruits and vegetables grown in Canada, especially Ontario, a better chance. But it's only a start and much more is necessary if Canadian farmers are going to remain in production.

Agriculture needs fair trade regulations plus improved and concentrated sales efforts both at home and around the world.

One of the first statements made by Canada's new minister of agriculture, John Wise of Elgin County, was: "We must follow a policy of fair trade before free trade."

The statement makes a lot of sense. It remains to be seen whether he can get the support of his Cabinet colleagues to make the necessary changes. It certainly seemed to me, sitting out here in the boondocks, that the Trudeau Cabinet paid little attention to Eugene Whelan the last four years.

Perhaps that's one of the reasons the Tories made so many gains in rural ridings. The farm vote may not be as hefty as it once was but it still holds some clout.

I wish John Wise well in his new responsibilities.

He's got a tough job ahead of him when you consider a few truckers across the line can influence our eating habits.

Give Canadian farmers enough incentives and we won't have to depend on importing a lot of those foods brought in by trucks.

Tent caterpillars on decline

The last three years have seen massive infestations of tent caterpillars in the forests of Ontario, but 1979 has been a year of decline for this bothersome insect. The thousands of acres of barren trees have been replaced by a few scattered pockets in eastern Ontario and near Owen Sound.

What causes the dramatic outbreaks of tent caterpillars? No one knows for sure, but we do know that their populations cycle up and down every ten to twelve years, and that 1977 and 1978 were peak years in that cycle. The balance of nature is not long in re-asserting control, however. Last year saw an invasion of a large two-wing fly, known as Sarcophaga aldrichi, that parasitizes the tent caterpillars. These parasites help in reducing caterpillar populations, and curb the continued population explosion that might otherwise occur.

During low population periods, tent caterpillars favour trembling aspen trees for their tenting and feeding. When their cycle is high, they infest many other species, with the effects on maples particularly noticeable.

Until last year, the threat of tent caterpillars to the health of trees was thought to be insignificant. However, the Canadian Forestry Service is now reporting mortality and partial crown dieback in sugar maples from heavily infested areas. In 1978, a total of more than 25,000 hectares of maples were killed in scattered pockets, with heavy damage in the Parry Sound area. A damage survey in the Owen Sound district revealed a 5 percent mortality rate, with damage concentrated in small pockets, surrounded by scattered dieback in adjacent stands.

Researchers are sure that tent caterpillars are not the only cause of this decline, but they are still uncertain of what other factors are at work. In any case, the caterpillar infestation seems to have acted as a trigger to cause the maple mortality.

But the news is not all bad. One family of birds benefits greatly from a caterpillar upswing. Which one? I'll explore that topic next week.

Water report

inflows should be carefully planned to minimize or eliminate added phosphorus input. It was recommended that careful siting of septic tank and tile bed systems on vacant registered lots that must be developed should be carried out by staff of the local Health Unit; new proposed development should be planned on the basis of a 100-foot setback of septic tank and tile field systems from shoreline. As parts of some lake shorelines with steep slopes offer no retention of nutrients from tile bed systems, the upper edge of these slopes where land levels off should be considered the start of the 100-foot setback distance. In the cases of all the lakes it was recommended the tile field systems should be of a reasonably fine nature and clearing of the vegetation on lots during development should be minimized.

Lakes considered most sensitive were Sandy, East and West Twin, Oak, Jack, Kasshabog and Lost. Lakes considered moderately sensitive to further unrestricted shoreline development were Long, South, Methuen and Upper Stony. Lakes considered least sensitive were Round, Dummer, Belmont, Cordova, Crowe, Lower Stony and the Trent Rivers.

The Seven Links Board members, on receiving the report of the Ministry, appointed three representatives to study the report and come up with recommendations for a policy. The three members chosen were Chairman Carman Metcalfe, Walter Hood, representative from Belmont - Methuen, and Thelma Tedford, representative from Norwood.

DIVING DEPTH - Obtaining food under water is the day-to-day activity of diving ducks, loons, grebes and mergansers. Canvasback ducks get most of their food at depths of between one and two metres, but can go as far as six or ten metres. The scaup (A) and goldeneye (B) often dive to much greater depths, up to 15 metres or more. The oldsquaw duck (C), a maritimes species, has been caught in fishermen's nets at the incredible depth of 60 metres. Loons (D) are masters of deep-water fishing, going down 30 to 60 metres in pursuit of fish.

One egg

Mrs. Betty West, R.R. 1, Havelock, recalls with amusement an article in the Marmora paper some years back where a man proudly displayed a 3-yolk egg laid by one of his hens. Mrs. West every day gathers an egg or two from two White Mountain hens she owns which provide 3-yolk eggs as a matter of course. She brought two dozen eggs into the Citizen office to show, last week, so large that they would not fit into the cartons. Upon weighing, they proved to be just under quarter-pound each.

Spring exercises

For the first time in the history of the Peterborough County's education system a secondary school held its graduation exercises in the Spring this year. The experiment was conducted at Lakefield High School.

The usual method of conducting the exercises in the fall have not always proved successful since students tend to scatter after leaving high school and it is hard to get them together again.

It is intended to repeat the procedure at Lakefield again next spring.

Pesticides can be dangerous to farmers

Pesticides kill!
That's what they are made for. The problem facing the user is how to make them kill selectively.
Farmers rely more and more on the use of pesticides to kill destructive or nuisance pests. The fact that these chemicals are generally toxic and sometimes even lethal stresses the importance of safety precautions in their handling.

Pesticides should only be handled outdoors or where there is very good ventilation says the Canada Safety Council. Before mixing a pesticide, clear away livestock, pets and non-workers. Put on needed protective equipment and refer to the label before starting and during the work to make certain you are doing everything correctly.

Avoid spills and splashes, but if one occurs, stop work immediately. Remove the contaminated clothing, then wash any affected skin with water and detergent as quickly as you can. Contain a spill and sop it up with soil, sand, rags, paper towels, etc.; then scoop it all into a leakproof container for disposal. If the pesticide spill occurs on a walking or working surface or in a vehicle, scrub the area with detergent and water.

Heed label instructions for measurement and exact amount to be used. Stand so the wind won't blow pesticide on you. Tightly close partially used containers and return them to safe storage.

Farmers suffer high rate of hearing loss, report says

A major study shows that farmers have a higher incidence of hearing loss than people in other occupations. Farmers also have the lowest proportion of persons with better than normal hearing.

A common ear trouble in farming areas is hearing loss due to acoustical trauma. Hearing damage commonly involves noise sources such as field and farmstead equipment, firearms, power tools, recreation vehicles, fireworks, etc.

To reduce noise levels, equipment should always be kept well lubricated and maintained, and all components tight. Defective mufflers and exhaust system parts should be promptly replaced.

Safety conscious farmers use ear protection equipment - muffs and plugs - on all noisy jobs. The Canada Safety Council urges general use of ear protection and strongly recommends that protection begins the minute the activity begins, for young and old alike.

Stay away from a noise source when you don't need to be near to control or tend the equipment. If you are without ear protection, limit duration of noise exposure to a minimum.

Eggs might be brain food

Choline, a common food substance which is found in large quantities in egg yolks, is presently being used experimentally to treat some forms of mental illness. These experiments are the result of a discovery by scientists at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1975. They found that choline from food circulating in the blood is taken directly into the brain and is used almost immediately to create acetylcholine, an important chemical of nerve signal transmission.

"This is very strange," said Dr. Richard Wurtman of MIT in an interview, "because it means that the composition of each meal will directly affect the synthesis of chemical signals in the brain."

This discovery surprised scientists, because of the previously held belief that the so called "blood brain" barrier protected the brain from direct influences from the day-to-day diet. Only a few strong substances such as alcohol and narcotics were believed capable of penetrating this barrier.

Experiments involving treatment of manic depressive illness, tardive dyskensia and a common form of progressive senility known as Alzheimer's disease have had promising results. Medical researchers in Edinburgh, Scotland recently gave choline supplements to patients suffering from mind-destroying Alzheimer's disease and found the treatment slowed its progress. A similar study at the Allan Memorial Institute in Quebec also had an encouraging outcome.

Alzheimer's disease, despite its unfamiliar name, is estimated to cause severe memory problems for as many as 15 percent of people older than 65. In addition, it is believed to be the most common dementia-producing illness in persons older than 45.

At St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D.S., scientists from the National Institute of Mental Health found evidence that choline treatment improved the memory of normal persons whose short-term memory scores were low. No difference was noted in persons with good memory skills, however.

These discoveries come at a time when the conventional wisdom about the relationship between the cholesterol in eggs and the development of heart disease is being called into question by an increasing body of medical research. Dr. George V. Mann, of the Vanderbilt University School of Medicine, has written that although "for 25 years the treatment dogma for coronary heart disease has been a low-cholesterol, low-fat polyunsaturated diet...clinical trials of prevention by diet, both primary and secondary, have shown that diet has no more than a trivial effect on cholesterolemia and has no real effect on morbidity and mortality."

JO-ANNE LAKE

The Bannockburn Angels lost their baseball game with a score of 16-11 against Madoc. Even with home runs hit by Kay Wilson and Sharon Helm, the Angels did not succeed in winning, but we enjoyed the game anyway.

The W.M.C. from the Pentecostal Church had a picnic at Base Lake this Wed. The weather was perfect and we all enjoyed ourselves in this fellowship together.

Mr. Bill Albin spent a few days holidaying in our area. He was visiting from the town of Barrie, Ontario.

We were sorry to hear Rhonda Tokley had to get stitches in her head after a fall from her new bike. Rhonda (aged 7) is doing well and still riding the bike.

It's good to see Murray Baumhour out and running around again after the removal of his foot cast.

If you have any used clothing you would like to get rid of the Centre Hastings Training Center is open in Madoc (old furniture store), for business. Just stop in and look around. I found it most interesting.

The News will be irregular during summer months. People are away on holidays including myself.

Beginners' Club

The Madoc Beginners Club will be holding their first meeting on Tuesday July 24, 1979 at 8:00 p.m. They will meet at the farm of David and Carol Murphy R.R.3, Madoc, located on the Cooper Road, just past the arena.

What is a Beginner Club? It is an opportunity for youngsters 10 to 12 years of age to prepare for the 4-H program. These members are keen and enthusiastic to learn more about care, training, and showing of a calf. Two meetings are held for this group. The first meeting, next week, will be about the care of a young calf. The final meeting, to be held in late August, is about preparing for the fair, and showing a calf. The Madoc Agricultural Society sponsors the club and has appointed Rober Sager, R.R.2, Madoc, and David Murphy, R.R. 3 Madoc, as the club leaders. Each member who shows a calf at the Madoc Fair will receive $5.00 and a ribbon from the Agricultural Society.

Last year, the fair board agreed to sponsor the club, however, there were very few interested. To date, six young people are eager to join. Anyone interested is asked to contact the leaders for further information or to come to the first meeting. Parents are invited to accompany their children to the meeting.

2nd Annual Antique Show and Sale

The Second Annual Antique Show and Sale, sponsored by the St. John's Anglican Church was again a huge success with many of the best local antique dealers present to show and sell their pride and joy. This show, after only two years, attracted nine of the best dealers in the area while many other applications for space could not be met by the organizers.

The show has become such a success because the dealers have made every attempt to have only their best antiques at this show and, with nine dealers present, you get a very wide range of collectibles that are of interest to everyone. Each dealer has his or her own favourite type of antique, whether it is depression glass, Canadiana, china, jewellery or furniture, and, with very little attention required on the part of those viewing the displays, it was easy to pick out each dealer's specialty. Depression glass was one of the more popular items in many of the displays although old furniture, lamps, clocks, jewellery, cooking utensils and Canadiana were abundance.

This year, a preview showing with a dessert and coffee party, was held on Tuesday evening and could become a popular addition to subsequent shows. On Wednesday, people from the surrounding area visited the show from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. and were impressed with the variety of antiques on sale. Our local dealers were well represented and certainly did not detract from the show. Again this year, the "Tea Room" was very popular with the dealers and served a wide variety of sandwiches, desserts, cold drinks, tea and coffee.

The organizers of this event deserve a great deal of thanks for bringing a quality show to the area and we wish them well in their future endeavors.

Each collector had his own special antiques at the show and sale and it was amazing how the different displays seemed alike and yet so different.

Peace Park Memorial Service

The 13th Annual Peace Park Memorial Service in remembrance of the 100,000 Canadian soldiers who lost their lives in the last two wars will be held this year in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc, Ontario on Sunday, July 22nd at 11 a.m. as part of the regular church service.

The Peace Park Youth Festival will be held in the park on Trans-Canada Highway No. 7 west of Highway 37 on Saturday afternoon, July 21, 2 to 5 p.m.

The committee administering the park felt that it was advisable to separate the Veteran's Memorial Service which is primarily a religious service from the Youth Festival which has a carnival atmosphere.

Reverend Gordon Adams, Minister of Trinity United Church, Madoc, will conduct the service. At the service, the annual Man of the Year Peace Award will be presented to the Canadian citizen who has made the most outstanding contribution to World Peace and or Canadian unity.

The public is invited to share in this annual service in memory of the Canadians who gave their lives in the last two world wars. Legion members have been invited from Madoc and Tweed. The Canadian Forces Base at Trenton has been requested to supply a piper similar to previous years.

Agriculturalist Program

Take one 16 or 17 year old teenager who doesn't have an agricultural background and one farmer interested in helping inexperienced youth develop skills required on a farm and you have the basis of the Agriculturalist Program. The program is presently in its seventh year, due to the sponsorship of Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food and the overwhelming support of farmers and students.

A number of local farmers and students are participating in this program. A total of thirty students, 15 males and 15 females, are employed on farms through Lanark, Leeds, Frontenac, Lennox and Addington, Prince Edward and Hastings counties.

As a Junior Agriculturalist, a person is placed on a selected commercial farm where he or she will perform regular activities relative to the farm operation. In addition, the Junior Agriculturalist will have an opportunity to develop an appreciation of rural life through living with the farm family and participating in local activities such as 4-H and Junior Farmers.

The students started work on June 18 and will be employed on their respective farms for nine weeks.

Most students are so far enjoying the work and finding farming fun. A lot of host farmers have commented on their Junior Agriculturalist's high tolerance level of hard work and the incredible enthusiasm the students display.

Annual Sidewalk Sale

Friday, July 13th, and Saturday, July 14th, saw the merchants of Madoc move from the hot confines of their stores, onto the even hotter streets of the village for the annual sidewalk sale. On Saturday, temperatures soared near the 35 degree Celsius mark and may have contributed to a smaller crowd than was present on Friday. These sweltering hot temperatures were not as great a disaster as rain would have been, but they probably meant that the sidewalk sale came a poor second to the beaches and swimming facilities in the area.

However, even with these extremely hot temperatures, many people did take time to browse through the large assortment of goods that were displayed on the sidewalks by almost every main street store. Clothing was at a premium while hardware, gardening machinery and knick-knacks of all kinds were available for all to buy. The sidewalk sale was not restricted to downtown merchants and many other participants also contributed to the flea-market atmosphere that makes a sidewalk sale so popular with the people doing the shopping.

Generally, the sale had to be one of the best ever with a large percentage of the merchants not only participating, but going out of their way to give special prices to their many customers throughout the year and also the tourists in the area. Many of the food outlets in the area also participated with their specialty foods and the summer gardens were a real crowd pleaser. The heat caused many complaints on the part of the shoppers but could not stop many of them from satisfying their curiosity by walking down the streets and "going through" the many displays.

Madoc W.I.

Monday, July 9th members and friends of Women's Institutes from Madoc, Queensboro, Cooper, Eldorado, Hart's-Riggs, Marmora, and Tweed, boarded a Franklin bus bound for Cornwall. We travelled on the 401 to Kingston and changed to the beautiful scenic route no. 2. Miss Ada Adams, who organized the trip, gave an informative commentary on the towns, homes, and places of interest, as we merrily rolled along.

A picnic lunch at the Long Sault Parkway was enjoyed by all before visiting "The Robert H. Saunders-St. Lawrence Generating Station." On entering, we were escorted to a 150 seat Auditorium, in the penthouse, where we viewed a film on the planning and construction of the Seaway. After the film, a guide escorted us to the Observation Lobby, and explained the functioning of this huge power station. One of the lovely decorations on one wall of the lobby, is an abstract canvas mural (37 ft. x 10 ft.) painted by Toronto artist, Harold Town.

From there, we visited "The United Counties Museum" in the Wood House. So many beautiful antique articles are exhibited, you could spend hours, just browsing. It was here that we met Jean Cameron, a life long friend of Ada Adams, who became our guide for the balance of the tour.

The next stop was "The Chalet Glass Works", where we watched a young chap design a vase and a horse, from a lump of molten glass. Then we were conducted into a display room, lined with glass objects of all descriptions. We were able to purchase whatever we wished, and believe me, I don't think anyone went home empty-handed. Miss Adams was given a cranberry glass vase, by the owner, so on the way home a quiz was held, and the lucky winner of the beautiful vase was Mrs. Jean Keene, of Madoc.

An unexpected treat was in store for us, when Jean Cameron took us to Inverarden Regency Cottage Museum, which had just opened this month. It is a dignified old home, built in 1816, and reflects the best in Regency architecture. Careful restoration was undertaken by Parks Canada.

Supper at the Ponderosa concluded our tour, and we all piled back into the bus for a pleasant trip home. Steve, our driver, led us in a sing - song as we drove along, and though we were tired after such a full day, it was wonderful to hear everyone sing out.

A tip of the old sombrero, and many thanks, to our secretary-treasurer, Ada Adams, who organized this huge success.

Foley-Demarshe re-union

Over three hundred members of the Foley - Demarshe families attended a reunion at Madoc. After a potluck supper, the following presentations were made: Oldest person, Mrs. Exie Courneyea, followed by Mrs. Victoria Courneyea of Tweed; The youngest was Curtis Spicer, son of Patsy and Wayne Spicer; The longest married couple were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bedore of Lewiston N.Y.; The newest married couple was Susan and Ted Parank; Joe and Pearl Foley had the largest family with 24 members present, 9 of their children and their families.

A special presentation was made to Bill Mitts and Debbie Turiff who changed their wedding day to the next week.

Following the supper, everyone had a good time meeting new and old relatives and dancing.

Village Of Madoc

By-Law No. 1020

A by-law Regarding Responsibilities of Councillors.

1. A re-organization of the responsibilities of Councillors will enable the better use of Council time and clarify the responsibility of Council as a policy decision making body that delegates responsibility for implementation of decisions to Village employees.
2. Under this by-law, the statutory duties of Council as spelled out in the Municipal Act will be divided into five major policy areas: General Government, Protection and Development, Transportation, Environment and Health, Recreation and Social Services.
3. All of Council will make all policy decisions in each of the five policy areas, but the Reeve will continue the past practice of appointing two Councillors as co-chairmen of Council Committees. Council will act as a Committee of the Whole on General Government policy issues. ## Changes in the Landlord & Tenant Act

Effective the end of 1979, an Act reforming the laws respecting residential tenancies will replace the current Landlord Tenant Act and Rent Review Legislation. To settle disputes, a new Tribunal will be established under the name of Residential Tenancy Commission. The Commission will discharge the duties now performed by county court judges in respect of residential tenancy matters in general, as well as the duties of Rent Review Officers and the Residential Premises Rent Review Board in respect of rent review matters. It is intended that the new Commission will assume the rent review role on the 1st day of December, 1979, and at the earliest practicable date take over the function of the county court judges in respect to landlord/tenant matters. To provide for this transfer of jurisdiction, relevant portions of the new Act will be proclaimed in force at the appropriate times.

Principal features

Among the principal features of the new Act pertaining to the Landlord/Tenant Act to be repealed are the following:

1. Roomers and boarders will enjoy a measure of security of tenure and will not be liable to arbitrary eviction, nor may their personal belongings be seized by the landlord for arrears of rent.

2. Procedures are set out providing for the manner in which a landlord may deal with personal property left behind by a tenant when the tenant abandons the rented premises.

3. Every landlord is to maintain, and have available for inspection, a rent schedule for each rental unit showing the current rent being charged, the immediately preceding rent that was charged, and the date of the last rent increase.

4. On the application of a landlord, prompt eviction of a tenant may be ordered by the Commission where it is established the tenant has seriously breached an obligation, such as unreasonable interference with the safety of others or causing extraordinary damage.

The new Act provides for one rent-review per year per building where a landlord wishes to increase rents by more than 6 percent. On a whole-building review application, the Commission will determine the total rent increase to be permitted and how that increase is to be apportioned among the rental units. In apportioning, the Commission may consider variations in the rents being charged for similar units within the complex; discrepancies may thus be eliminated or reduced.

Where a landlord reduces a tenant's rent in a municipality designated by the Minister as economically depressed, provision is made for the landlord, not sooner than twelve months later, to increase the rent. The method of determining the maximum rent then chargeable is set out in the Act.

Friday, July 20th

Oriza Hirata, a sixteen year old Japanese youth attempting to ride his bicycle around the world, arrived in Madoc on Sunday evening and rested at the home of Clayton Harrop overnight before proceeding to Ottawa. It has become almost a common sight to see these enterprising cyclists on their slow journey around the world but, few of them are the ripe old age of sixteen. If Oriza completes his trip (and he didn't show the least doubt that he would) he could very likely go into the Guinness Book of World Records as the youngest man to circumvent the world on bicycle.

Oriza left Los Angeles, his first stop in North America, on May 5th of this year and has since visited such places as the Grand Canyon, Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis, Nashville, Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Toronto. From Madoc, he would continue to Philadelphia and on to New York City. He would then continue on to London, England, where he would spend one month touring England, cross through France, Spain, North Africa and on to Egypt to meet his mother and father for Christmas. After this meeting, he would return to Europe to continue through such countries as Greece, Yugoslavia, Turkey and finally, India, where he will take a flight home to Japan. He expects the trip to take him one and one half years to complete and hopes to be in the warmer climates during the winter months.

What makes a sixteen year old boy want to travel around the world by bicycle? "I like to cycle," said Oriza, "and I wanted to meet people from around the world. Also, I wanted to see everything and anything while I was travelling." He visited Madoc because Clayton Harrop belongs to the same organization, The League of American Wheelmen, and the members of this organization are committed to supplying hospitality to their fellow cyclists if they travel through their region. Mr. Harrop, so far this summer, has supplied this service for eleven cyclists.

Oriza was travelling on a Japanese made bicycle that was heavier and more brutal than the more popular North American version according to Mr. Harrop. The bicycle itself weighed between 25 and 30 pounds and the gear he was packing with him weighed about 50 pounds. This is a little heavier than some would travel and is not that unusual until you hear that Oriza himself only weighs 110 pounds. He is travelling around the world on and with equipment that is only about 30 pounds less than his own body weight. He said that his packs were about as heavy as they would ever be right now, which had to be a bad time for this weight with the very high temperatures that were occurring in Ontario at this time. "I do not mind riding in the warm weather, but my equipment is heavy when I have to push it," he said. He gets about 2,000 miles out of his tires which is about 1,000 miles better than Mr.

Harrop gets from his North American made tires. The tires appeared a little heavier and were also wider than any that we see on touring bikes in Canada. Oriza was hoping to be able to purchase similar tires in England when he arrived there. He started out with a spare tire but was forced to change it about two weeks ago. Averaging about 75 miles per day, he may have to purchase a North American tire before he arrives in England.

It was a very unique experience to meet this teenage boy from a country halfway around the world. His English was adequate although his accent was as hard for me as my English was for him at times. He was very friendly and will make a great deal of very interesting friends on his trip. Failure to do what he had set out to do did not seem to enter his mind and I am sure that Clayton Harrop and myself will be watching the Guinness Book of Records for his name to appear.

Oriza Hirata and Clayton Harrop stand behind the loaded down bike of the sixteen year old Japanese youth who is attempting to be the youngest person to circumvent the world on a bicycle. Oriza weighed just thirty pounds more than his bike and equipment in this picture.

Belmont cottager dies in blaze

John Robert Mansfield, a cottager of Concession 3 of Belmont Township, died when his cottage burned on Saturday morning at 2:30 a.m. He was 78.

Mr. Mansfield, his wife Bernice, his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Gould, and their daughter Joanne were in the cottage when the fire broke out. All but Mr. Mansfield were able to escape in time. Mrs. Mansfield says she was the first to discover the fire, but was unable to rescue her husband.

Belmont-Methuen fire fighters were at the scene quickly, but were unable to save the house from total destruction. They saved surrounding, unoccupied buildings from the blaze.

The O.P.P. believe the fire may have been caused by faulty electrical wiring. The investigation is being conducted by Constable Terry Elliot and J.M. Lalonde of the Fire Marshal's office.

Constable Ball of the Madoc OPP investigated.

Madoc Minutemen gained a split in games last week. Before a good crowd in Madoc, Tuesday night, the local squad defeated Stirling Patz 5-1. On Thursday night in Tweed, the Minutemen were edged 5-4 (first runs against Tweed in two seasons).

Against the Patz, Harold Bailey drove in three runs with two singles and a homerun while Clayton (The Rookie) Whiteman singled twice, smacked out a double and scored twice to lead the Minutemen offense (Not a bad night for a rookie). Robert Nickle added two singles, scored a run and had one R.B.I. Singles by Ted Sexsmith, Terry Helps, Glen (The Hammer) Graham and Bob Wellemsen rounded out the twelve hit attack.

Ted Sexsmith gave up one run and six hits, struck out eight and didn't walk a batter in picking up the win.

In Tweed Thursday night, George Foote hit two homeruns and drove in three runs to lead Tweed to a 5-4 win over the Minutemen. Brian Armstrong gave up three runs and four hits in the first inning before settling down and allowing the Tweed squad only three hits and two runs over the remaining five innings.

Down 4-0 after three innings the local squad fought back with a run in the fourth (Army singled home Bailey who had doubled); three runs in the sixth (Dave Wannamaker singled home Bailey, and Glen "The Hammer" Graham hammered out a long single driving in Armstrong and Wannamaker). Tweed, meanwhile, picked up an unearned run in the fifth which proved to be the winner.

Armstrong took the loss giving up five runs and seven hits, walked none and struck out five. St. Jirles, on the mound for Tweed (who looked very impressive over the first three innings) gave up four runs and seven hits, walked two and struck out three in picking up the win.

The league standings show the first six teams in the nine team league very close in points. The following standings are "incomplete". They include some of last Thursday's games. So, unofficially (but close to official) Points: Tweed 19; Hallway 19; Hoards 16; Madoc 16; Springbrook Royals 15; Stirling Patz 13;

Stirling Selects 9; Stirling Juveniles 8; and Springbrook Steelers 2.

Madoc has three away games remaining: Stirling Juveniles in Stirling, Tuesday, July 17 (7 p.m.); Hoards in Stirling July 19 and a cancelled game with Hallway (date unknown). Hallway play their home games in Tweed.

After thirteen games, the locals have won 7, lost 4 and tied 2, for 16 points.

The Minutemen play in a tournament in Grafton on Saturday, July 21.

Manpower report

Job search hints

Summer is here, and many of the students in the area are working at summer jobs. If you are not one of these students, the Canada Employment Centre for students has a few helpful hints for you in your job search.

The first suggestion is that you register with the centre. About one fifth of the job openings in the area are referred to the centre, so you can cover that many jobs by checking in with the centre. We are also available to give you help in person with two important aspects of the job search: resumes and interview behaviour.

A resume is simply a one or two page summary of your employable qualities and personal data. It is set up with headings so that information is easy to find and should be kept as brief as possible. It could start with your name, address, phone number, age, height, weight and any other relevant personal information. Under clear headings, you should also include work experience, hobbies and interests, educational experience and anything else you feel is important. It is a good idea to include references. The resume can be set up any way you like as long as it is easy to read.

Sound complicated? ... it isn't! Drop into the CECS and we can help you set up your own resume. This is your chance to sell yourself to potential employers.

Many students find interviews a nerve wracking experience and this is understandable, it's not necessary. Today's young people have many abilities and talents which employers can use. The interview is a chance for that particular employer to find out how useful you are. A polite, neat and pleasant student cannot fail to impress any business person. If you find interviews particularly hard, talk to a student placement officer, at the CECS. He or she should be able to help you out with some practical advice.

Most important of all, don't get discouraged. There are jobs available. Right now, we are looking for: waiters and waitresses in the Madoc-Tweed area, farmworkers and general labourers. Come in and see us at CHSS every Wednesday office any weekday. We're at 228 Dundas St. E. in the basement. Employers and E. in the basement. Employers and students can reach us in Belleville at 962-2586 or in Madoc at 473-4251. Student employees are a great summer time resource: employers and students benefit equally from the experience.

The other attractions of the island

Everybody knows about Prince Edward Island's beautiful beaches, with their endless stretches of sand and the warm saltwater, perfect for swimming. But visitors to the island would be wise to go prepared for sightseeing as well as sunning. Many delightful surprises await. For example three provincial museums reflect the province's main activities through the years: fishing, farming and shipbuilding. There is one in each of the three counties and all three are packed with valuable well displayed memorabilia.

Fisheries Museum

The Basin Head Fisheries Museum at

Kingsboro, 10 km (6 miles) from Souris, in King's County, tells the story of fishing on the island. It sits atop a small hill overlooking a beautiful sandy beach and small harbour.

On display are small boats, nets, hooks and other equipment used by island fishermen from the early days of development on the island until recently. Also depicted, in scale models, are the various methods used to catch the different species of fish and molluscs. Old photographs, fish charts, shells and other marine articles can also be seen.

Films and slide projections are presented on the second storey where more fishing equipment and photographs are displayed.

An old lobster canning factory is located on the wharf. Reconstructed fish shacks and a long twin-pier with a foot bridge complete the museum village.

The entrance fee is 50 cents but children under 12 and groups are admitted free. The museum is open daily from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. from May to September and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in September and October.

Agricultural Museum

Just a short drive from Charlottetown is Orwell Corner, a well-preserved village typical of the 19th century.

It is strictly an agricultural village with its general store, post office, farmhouse, school, church and farm dependencies.

The combined store, post office and farmhouse is a fascinating museum, apparently untouched for 100 years.

The house was inhabited until a few years ago and has been kept in good condition but no modernization of any kind has altered its appearance.

In the 1800s, the same family handled the post office, in a corner of the store, served customers and farmed the land.

The little red schoolhouse is complete with its battered desks marked with the initials of former students, a "recent" picture of Queen Victoria, a once "up-to-date" map of Prince Edward Island and a pot-bellied stove.

Goats keep the grass short in front of the small white church that stands across the road from the school.

The program at Orwell Corner includes musical evenings and hayrides.

Situated in Queen's County, Orwell Corner is 29 km (18 miles) from Charlottetown on the way to Wood Islands and Murray River.

Admission is 50 cents for adults and children are free. It is open from mid-May to the end of October.

Shipbuilding Museum

The story of shipbuilding, important to every part of Prince Edward Island, is told eloquently and colourfully at Green Park Provincial Historic Park.

The provincial government wisely chose the estate of a former important shipbuilder as the site of its shipbuilding museum.

The interpretive centre shows how ships were built in the old days; photographs of famous P.E.I. ships line the walls and shipping artifacts fill several rooms. Films and audio-visual shows are presented in the museum theatre.

Green Park is the name of the stately residence built by James Yeo Jr. in 1865.

The house is also a museum and is a short stroll from the shipbuilding interpretation centre. It was the home of a rich and powerful man and each room is filled with expensive furniture and other treasures.

Within easy walking distance from the museum is a reconstructed shipyard where half-size ships are built using the methods of 100 years ago.

Camping and trailer facilities are available at the park and there is good swimming in Malpeque Bay as well as nature trails in the area.

The park is at Port Hill, 40 km (25 miles) north of Summerside. It is open from mid-May to mid-October and entrance is free.

For more information on Canada as a travel destination contact the Canadian Government Office of Tourism, Ottawa, Canada K1A 0H6.

Hastings JWIO

The June meeting was held at the home of Jany Jeffreys with Ann Dracup as our convener.

The meeting was called to order and the group recited the Mary Stewart Collect. Ruth McCurdy welcomed all with a poem "Friends Have Time". Secretary and treasurer's reports were read. The roll call was "Do you Know Your Blood Type?" Most of the ladies knew their type.

Onatee Martin has very generously donated sugar tongs to the JWIO. We are presenting these tongs to the Erland Lee Home.

The J.W.I. will present a fashion show "Autumn Reflections", October 17, 1979, at the Community Theatre in Stirling, sponsored by the Village Shoppe and Lollipop Tree of Stirling.

The J.W.I. foster child is Ronaldo Fronda from the Philippines. He is 9 years old and is in Grade 3 in school. Ruth McCurdy volunteered to write the first letter to Ronaldo. $180 per year makes life much easier for Ronaldo and his family.

The family picnic will be July 29, 1979, at Vanderwater Park. Everyone is welcome. We hope to have a good attendance this year.

The guest speaker was Mr. Harry Hitchon from City Ambulance. He spoke on "Basic First Aid". Anne Dracup volunteered to be his "victim" and he demonstrated new techniques for aiding choke victims. Ruth McCurdy thanked Mr. Hitchon and presented him with a gift. The group enjoyed a delicious lunch and celebrated its 3rd anniversary with a beautiful cake made and decorated by Ruth McCurdy.

The next meeting will be July 12, 1979, at 8 p.m. at Sharlene Grill's home near Frankford.

DIRECTIONS: Through Stirling to the Town Line (Fairgrounds Road). Down this road, 1st left hand turn over railroad tracks. Take next right turn and 4th house in.

TOPIC: 1. "The Handicapped Child: The Joys and the Sorrows". Guest Speaker Mary Ellen Thompson. Convener, Margaret Thompson.

2. Introduction on "How to compile 'House Logs'". Convener, Helen Thompson.

ROLL CALL: Give an interesting point or history of your house. Gail Lasko, Public Relations

MIDWEEK

IN BRIEF:

Often the most interesting stories in our newspapers don't get into MIDWEEK. Because of their particular local interest or their high news value they often end up in the front pages of the individual paper. So to keep you informed on the news in the villages around you (and who can do it better than us?) we're offering a NEWS ROUNDUP, capsulizing the most important stories in each of our five papers.

HAUELOCK THE CITIZEN

While some people were worrying about the remote possibility skylab might fall on them last week, Joyce and Everett Riley of R.R. 3, Havelock, did have an object hurtle down from the sky onto their house. About 4 p.m. July 6 a blast at 3M mine which is situated about 1 and a quarter mile north of the Riley property and No. 7 highway sent a 6 inch rock high in the air and across the highway to land on the Riley roof directly above where Mrs. Riley was sitting. Fortunately, it broke through the fascia of the house and dropped through onto the window frame beneath rather than going through the ceiling of the room below but Mrs. Riley was stunned, bruised, cut and shocked by debris from the window. Other stones fell around Mr. Riley who was working outside. The Rileys have complained previously to the mine officials about broken windows and cracked foundation which they claim were caused by other blasts at the mine and also about a rock that fell into a hay field last summer but received no satisfaction until the accident last week when mine crews moved in fast to make repairs.

A craft club that was formed two years ago in Havelock with a large membership drawn from the surrounding area went into decline last year through organizational difficulties and Charles Carpenter, a well-known Havelock wood carver, is trying to get it re-organized. "Summer is the time to think about those long dark evenings next winter and get hobby clubs organized. It is also a time to collect material for use next winter", he said. Mr. Carpenter searches out the burls from old stumps for polishing and sanding. One of his pet whittling projects is making small totem poles.

A resident of Trent River, Grace De

Carrol, won $100,000 in the July 5th. Wintario draw.

The Belmont Black Powder Club, recently organized, held its first meeting July 9th at the home of the organizer of the club, Bill Seabrook, R.R. 1, Havelock. Next meeting and shoot is scheduled for 2 p.m. July 21st at Bill Seabrook's residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Snow, Havelock, celebrated 60 years of marriage Thursday, June 28th when a dinner was held in their honour in Knox Presbyterian Church, Havelock.

MARMORA THE HERALD

Big news in Marmora this week is what's coming up next weekend. The annual sidewalk sale and the Lions' Sixth Annual Summerfest coincide on Saturday for what should be one of the big celebrations of the summer. As well a men's ball tournament and tug of war are on tap the same day.

The townships of Marmora and Lake are preparing to pass a landuse bylaw. This has been a contentious issue in the townships, and three elections have been fought on passing or rejecting one. Now with a report from a citizen's advisory planning committee suggesting very few changes, the townships look like they'll finally institute what many of their neighbours have had for some time.

The Marmora Children's Nursery Centre, having been informed of a $1,000 grant from the International Year of the Child Commission have announced a drop-in-summer program for preschoolers one and a half days a week.

HASTINGS THE STAR

Last week, a representative from the Ministry of Housing gave her best sales pitch to a group of Hastings' senior citizens on the possibility of building a seniors' complex in the village.

Hastings' Reeve, Ab Nelson, says an agreement could be worked out with Asphodel and Percy Township councils to share in the costs of building such a complex, because seniors from those two townships are interested.

The response from this meeting was poor, but Ministry of Housing representative, Debbie Latham, is hopeful enough will express interest in building the 25-30 unit complex.

NDP leader, Michael Cassidy, was in the area last Wednesday to take a tour of the proposed Seymour landfill site near Campbellford. Garbage from the village of Hastings, if the county and provincial governments have their way, would be sent to this 55 acre site if an OMB and Environmental assessment hearing approve the move.

Protest against the site is rife, and Cassidy pledged his support to a planned recycling plant for Campbellford as a good alternative to using a site local farmers claim as being the source for local streams.

The Northumberland Arts Festival takes place in Campbellford next Saturday and Sunday. Artists from the Hastings area will be taking part, but a Ministry of Culture and Recreation official says there will be no Wintario support for the first year project. Unless the turnout is good, this could be the last festival.

NORWOOD THE REGISTER

A Norwood man is dead as the result of a tragic accident between the ambulance he was a passenger in and a car driven by a man charged with impaired driving.

Douglas Creighton, 61, was accompanying his granddaughter Suzanne to Peterborough Civic Hospital for an asthma attack she had suffered. The accident took place on Saturday morning just west of the village. An R.R. 3, Norwood woman, ambulance attendant Barbara Keefer, is in serious condition. Driver Allan Finn of Hastings escaped with major injuries.

The Eastern Ontario Steam and Antique Association will hold their annual three-day show at the Norwood fair grounds this weekend. The doors open on Friday at 10 p.m., and will include horse drawing competitions, vintage cars and free rides and souvenirs for the kids.

The Wakefield Ranch Rodeo is slated for the weekend at the Wakefield farm west of Norwood. The Norwood Lions are managing this year's program which begins Friday at 8 p.m.

MADOC THE REVIEW

It was a busy weekend in Madoc as the merchants staged their sidewalk sale Friday and Saturday and the Antique Show and Sale, sponsored by St. John's Anglican Church went on Tuesday and Wednesday.

In spite of sweltering temperatures the sidewalk sale was classified as one of the best ever because of the high participation rate and good specials given by Madoc merchants. The summer food gardens were also enthusiastically received.

The antique sale, initiated last year, drew nine dealers and not all applications for space could be met. Organizers were pleased with the results and are looking ahead to the future.

Madoc is also gearing up for the Pullers Jamboree, an event that organizers are hoping will be Madoc's answer to Marmora's very successful sled dog races. The event is sponsored by the local fire departments and the Madoc Agricultural Society; horses, ponies, four wheel drive, tractor and dog pulls will all be featured and there are a lot of other things going on as well. (see article page 3-A)

'One foot in the furrow' by Bob Trotter

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, Eldale Rd. Eimura Ont. N3B 2C7

Everybody gets caught in the inflation squeeze, especially people on a fixed income with no hope of an increase to equal spiralling prices.

But the basic industries, including agriculture, get hit hard. For many of us, the expected increases in energy costs may be offset by a pay increase. Farmers, though, need that energy to produce food.

If production costs increase to the point where farmers just cannot continue to farm, we'll all starve. Agriculture is still the most important industry in Canada and don't you forget it. More than 40 percent of the gross national product is generated through the food chain. No other industry can make that statement. Others such as the steel industry would like to make it, but only agriculture can.

I cannot, for the life of me, understand what the independent truckers in the United States hope to gain by their strike. They say they want someone to subsidize them for the cost of diesel fuel.

You know who will subsidize them. The poor taxpayer. It's enough to make you weep when pictures in the papers show an unhappy farmer plowing dozens of acres of lettuce back into the ground because the farmer cannot get a trucker to take the produce to market.

Yet the poor farmer keeps getting criticized by almost every sector of the economy. Beef prices are high, so high that people are turning to substitutes. Who gets blamed? The beef producer.

"They're making a killing at our expense," said a teacher friend of mine the other day. "They're going to price themselves right out of the market."

Yet, where was he when beef producers were dropping out of business like flies in the fall a few years ago when beef producers were losing money?

The Consumers Association of Canada deplored food price inflation last fall in a brief to the first ministers conference. The association did not relate the food price inflation to the rest of inflation across the nation. They, of all people, should know that food price increases have not been significantly different from other prices. The association failed to suggest that Canadians are spending less of their disposable income on food these days, even with inflation, than they did 20 years ago.

It seems to me that too many Canadians complain about farmers, too many are interested only in the few pennies they might save if imported food is allowed to come into this country with no barriers.

It seems to me, too, that farmers would like some indication from Canadians that they--farmers--are wanted and appreciated in this country. They would like some indication from senior governments that farmland is a limited resource and should not be gobbled up by urban sprawl with little or no thought for farmers.

Farmers would like to know whether Canadians want the family farm preserved. Farmers have the distinct impression, as articulated recently by the Christian Farmers Federation, that most Canadians do not care if their food is produced here by Canadians or by some branch plant of some international conglomerate.

For a few pennies difference, Canadian consumers buy imported fruits and vegetables and Canadian farmers end up plowing those fruits and vegetables back into the ground.

Farmers get frustrated and angry when urban consumers expect them to provide land corridors for gas lines, pipe lines, hydro lines, roads, ticky-tacky subdivisions and asphalt-covered shopping plazas.

And garbage dumps, industrial waste dumps and nuclear waste dumps.

Through all this, the farmer keeps right on producing to fill all those hungry bellies in the cities.

Is it any wonder farmers are complaining?

It doesn't take long for Don McKeown to train his huskies or his collie to pull. Don has volunteered to try and supply harnesses for any dogs who may wish to enter the contest. He expects the backyard dogs to outpull the huskies.

into the last two weeks of preparation and shows all the signs of developing into the event of the future for Madoc. Many of the small towns in the area have come up with their own idea for attracting people to their village for a major special event during the year and the organizers of this event in Madoc hope to meet with the success that the Sled Dog Races in Marmora and the Winter Street Nationals in Stirling had this past winter. Both of these events proved that small towns can supply the human resources and spirit to make events viable in natural surroundings where they might not succeed in larger centres. The interesting part of having each town organize major events within their villages is that it will often help and involve the other villages close to them and this has to bode well for future of our small rural communities who are often maligned for having nothing to offer. We in these communities have often been pressed to defend the rural lifestyle against the urban lifestyle that seems to offer so much while at the same time depriving the inhabitants of so much of what we in rural communities hold so dear. If we can keep this pride and enthusiasm working in a positive manner for these communities, we will soon prove that rural is where the future lies and that we can hold events that will attract people from different parts of the world to compete in competitive events that add that little something extra our communities are famous for.

Not a new concept

The Country Music and Pullers Jamboree is not a new concept for this area, although it may take the event a little farther than we are used to seeing it. Horse and pony pulls have been a part of our local fairs for years now and the Pullers Jamboree is going to expand on this idea to include more pulling events that will hold an attraction for almost every person with a competitive spirit. Each and every pull will be run in much the same manner as the horse pulls although the rules may differ somewhat in each of the other events. Basically, a common sled will be pulled by the entries in each event and, because there has been some trepidation on the part of some of the entrants about hooking their fourwheel drive vehicles onto another vehicle and pulling directly against that vehicle, we stress in this article that will not be the case. A special weight distributing sled will be on hand that will be used in the tractor and fourwheel drive pulls. The regular apparatus will be used for the horses while the dogs will be pulling a toboggan weighed down with cement blocks.

Yes, that's right. Horses and ponies, tractors, fourwheel drive vehicles and dogs will all be a part of the pullers jamboree. The horse and pony pulls will have the usual categories and are open to contestants from anywhere along with all the other pullers events. The organizers are expecting a strong local showing but are also hoping that contestants will enter from outside the area to really make the pulls a contest. It is also hoped that the tractor and fourwheel drive pulls will have entrants from many different parts of Ontario. Both of these events will give our local people the opportunity to prove how good their tractors and fourwheel drives are compared with those from other areas and makes. In the fourwheel drive pull, the organizers are hoping to have many clubs from larger centres on hand who will make it tough for the locals to walk away with the competition.

Dog pulls innovative

The dog pulls are new to this area and will prove that dogs can and often do pull

THE PULLERS JAMBOREE

Madoc's answer to the sled dog races?

by Ross Lees

much heavier loads than people expect them to. Ted Francis, from Campbellford, tells a story of a husky who pulled a 10,000 pound tractor and trailer on bare pavement. However, both Ted Francis and Don McKeown of Eldorado feel that, although huskies are nearly unbeatable when pulling dog sleds over long distances, they can be beaten when pulling heavy weights over a short distance. They are worried that many of the dogs that are kept in backyards will come out to this pull and prove that the husky can be out pulled.

If you have a dog that seems to be able to pull a great deal of weight, bring him out and show these husky breeders that their dogs may be unbeatable in some areas but not in this particular event.

The rules and regulations for this event are relatively simple and should give each and every dog a chance to prove his worth. There are four classes in the event: 40 pounds and under; 41 pounds to 60 pounds; 61 pounds to 80 pounds and over 81 pounds. The dogs will be required to pull a toboggan loaded with cement blocks starting somewhere near the dogs weight a distance of 10 feet. For example, a dog exceptionally well in their own class, this dog can also be moved up into the next category prior to the beginning of that weight class. The entry fee is $1.00 per dog per weight class. The dog will have one minute to pull the weight ten feet.

The dogs will be weighed at the event by having the handler step on a set of bathroom scales alone and then holding his dog. The difference in weight will determine the weight of the dog. A leash will be required for all dogs on the fair grounds whether they are competing or not. There will probably be a large number of dogs in attendance that day so, if you decide to bring your pet to watch the show, he should be on a leash and under control at all times. For the dogs entered in the pulls, the leash must be released during the pull and the handler can go in front of the dog and call him over the ten foot distance. If a handler has trained his dog to work with him behind or beside the dog, the handler must insure that he does not assist the dog in any way.

Trophies have been donated for each class along with bags of dog food. The winner of each class will receive the trophy plus forty kilos of dog food. Second and third place finishers will receive twenty and ten kilos respectively. A 10 kilo bag of dog food will also be presented to the dog with the best pulling style and to the best handler. Again, we stress that these competitions are open to everyone and are meant to be fun for those who do enter.

Country music

For those who may not be interested in any of the pulls that will be put on by the Agricultural Society, the firemen have made plans to keep you entertained as well. Admission to the fairgrounds will be $2.50 single and $6.00 per family. On Saturday, this entry fee will include the dog and tractor pulls at 1:00 p.m., free country music in the recreation centre from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. and a fourwheel pull-off between local dealers. (Hopefully, there will be entries in this competition from each of our Ford, GMC and Dodge dealers to prove which has the best vehicle.) A Country Music and Talent Show at 7:30 p.m. and followed by a dance at 9:00 p.m. sponsored by the firemen will also take place. The entry fee for the show and dance will be $2.00 single and $3.00 per couple with the proceeds going towards rescue equipment. Entertainment will include the Western Hayriders, Little Joey Nicholson, Rodger and Odey Snider.

Firemen's Breakfast

On Sunday, the firemen will be serving their famous Firemen's Breakfast from 7:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m., with the pulls scheduled to begin at 12:00 noon. On this day, the pulls will include a heavy horse draw, a fourwheel pull, light horse draw and the pony draw. There will be free country music from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. plus a barbecue from noon until 6:00 p.m. The barbecue will include pork burgers, pork sausage and pork chops. The fire department end of the organization is a joint effort between the Madoc Village Fire Department and the Huntingdon Township Fire Department.

The firemen and the Agricultural Society have joined forces to raise funds for rescue equipment and community development, which is just one more reason why we should give this event as much support as possible. Firemen and Agricultural Societies everywhere are always ready to help their communities and in return, deserve the support of the communities in their ventures, which are ultimately to help those same communities. Come on out and enjoy the fun. You won't be disappointed.

Drying flowers

Drying flowers offers a year-round source of decoration for your home. Arrangements are decorative, versatile, creative and relatively inexpensive, say crafts specialists with the Home Economics Branch, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Two methods of drying flowers are air drying and silica gel drying. Air drying is simple and easy, but not suitable for all flowers. Flowers with little moisture content such as strawflowers, baby's breath and statice generally are used. Remove the foliage from the stems, group flowers together and hang branches upside down from a clothesline or beams. For successful air drying, hang flowers in a warm, dry space with air circulation, such as a basement or attic. Damp areas and bright sunlight should be avoided.

Silica gel allows greater variety in preserving flowers. This method is more involved and needs more equipment, but the results are worthwhile. Silica gel can be purchased at florist and craft shops and garden supply stores. It absorbs moisture from the flowers and air. Silica gel is blue, but turns colour when used. It can be dried in the oven (121 degrees C) until it changes back to blue. Equipment for this method includes cookie tins, large plastic ice cream containers or any container with tight-fitting lid, florist's wire for wiring stems, cut off the stem but leave three cm from the top. Insert a florist's wire through the stem into such flowers as roses or carnations. For flowers such as daisies or pansies, insert the wire through the base to the center of the flower, bend the top of the wire into a small open hook and pull down into the center.

Once the flowers are wired, pour a 3 by 5 cm layer of gel in your container, place flowers face up without touching each other and carefully pour the gel around and over the petals until they are completely covered. Seal containers with masking tape, label with date and type of flower and place in a warm, dry place. Drying time varies with the density of flowers used. Since timing is important, a test sample could be placed in the gel and the length of time for drying recorded.

Once the flowers are dried, pour off the silica gel and carefully remove the flowers. With your artist's brush, remove excess gel or it will moisten the flower. Now the stems can be wrapped with floral tape, ready to use in arrangements.

To maintain the beauty and colour of your arrangements, keep them away from direct sunlight which could fade the colours. Humidity in your home can also wilt the flowers. This summer, when you are collecting wild flowers or picking flowers from your garden, consider drying them and preserving their beauty.

Film on moose management

A 20-minute film that explains Ontario's new moose management program and other details of the province's moose herds is now available from district offices of the Ministry of Natural Resources for viewing by interested groups.

"Monarch of the North," produced by the ministry's wildlife branch, illustrates some aspects of the moose program such as aerial surveys and the management of forests to improve habitat.

The film also deals with food and habitat requirements of moose, recreational value, distribution, management problems, and solutions proposed by Ontario's moose managers.

Ontario fresh beans

Among Ontario's delicious fresh vegetables, green and wax beans are one of the most popular favorites with many people. They're mild and pleasantly flavored, they're readily available all summer until frost and they're versatile.

Many areas in Ontario grow beans, but the majority of beans sold on the fresh market come from the Hamilton-Wentworth area and southwestern Ontario. As well as being sold on the fresh market, many of the fresh beans go to be processed, both for canning and freezing.

When choosing green or wax beans, look for young, crisp, tender, fairly straight beans, free from blemishes. Allow about one pound for four servings (this makes about half-cup per serving). Store beans in a plastic bag in the refrigerator and use within five days.

Food specialists at the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food say that the versatility of beans makes them a great choice to include in many different meals. They can be cooked (about 15 minutes by boiling). To serve, toss beans with seasoned (lemon juice or tarragon) butter or with some sauteed mushrooms. They can be cooked until crisp-tender, chilled and served in a bean salad with a creamy dressing or added to a fresh tossed vegetable salad. Beans can also be served raw, along with other vegetables, for dunking in a favorite dip.

Pick up some fresh Ontario beans on your next shopping trip. They make the perfect addition to many meals.

WHITE RHINO

CERATOTHERIUM SIMUM

III-7

Next to the elephant, the white rhino is the largest land mammal, and can weigh up to 3.6 metric tons. Its 2 horns are positioned one behind the other and its thick hide is relatively smooth & light in colour. It is not, however, white. The young are quite hairy, but adults are hairless except for their ear rims, tail tip & eyelashes. As in other rhinos, vision is poor, the keenest sense being the animal's sense of smell.

The white rhino is more placid & sociable than other species, often forming into small groups. So large and powerful are these animals they must give way only to the elephant, nevertheless, their young and immature individuals sometimes fall victim to lions. The major threat to their existence, however, has been from man, who, over the years, has slaughtered them by the thousands, sometimes to make way for civilization, and in other cases, in the mistaken belief that their horns possessed the power of an aphrodisiac. In Asia the rhinoceros is close to extinction.

Gas saving tips

SPEED

Observe the legal speed limits of the municipalities and provinces. Driving within the legal speed limits will save you fuel and will reduce the risk of accidents. Driving at 90 km/hr (55 mph) instead of 110 km/h (70 mph) will save up to 20 percent of your fuel bill.

driving habits

Avoid jackrabbit starts. Accelerate smoothly when passing or merging. Try to avoid rush hour traffic.

DEFENSIVE DRIVING

Anticipate traffic flow, maintain a buffer space between your car and others around you. Give yourself the necessary time and space to drive and you will save lives and fuel.

Idling

Idling gets zero miles to the gallon. Driving slowly for the first few minutes is a much more efficient way to warm the motor than excessive idling, even after the car has stood overnight. Also, turn off the ignition any time you expect to wait more than 30 seconds or so; restarting will take less gasoline than idling. Remember this rule when waiting in line, for instance, at a ### drive-in-window.

WIND RESISTANCE

Open windows increase wind resistance by creating drag. If the outdoor temperatures permit, use flow-through ventilation. If heating or cooling is needed, use a moderate setting.

Watch sunburn on cloudy days

One can burn as badly on hazy days as in brilliant sunshine, says the Canada Safety Council.

All too often, people overexpose themselves because the shade of an umbrella or the cool breeze on an overcast day eliminate the uncomfortable heat we associate with sunburn. But the ultraviolet light of the sun reflects off sand and water, reaching under beach umbrellas, and penetrates grey clouds.

There are virtually no medical benefits to be gained from exposure to the sun. Some vitamin D is produced, but one receives more than needed from a normal diet.

There is no need to pass the summer months secluded indoors avoiding such recreational activities as tennis, golf or swimming, but it is wiser and safer to take the sun in small doses at least until a protective coat of tan has developed.

A good choice of suntan lotion will help prevent sunburn. The most useful are those which contain a sun-screening ingredient. But no lotion will protect against sunstroke that is likely to result from prolonged exposure to high temperature and sun. Moderation is the answer.

The decoration service held in Hazzard's United Church on Sunday was an opportunity for many old acquaintances to "catch up" on the news as well as visit and decorate the graves of family and friends buried in the cemetery.

Flowers were donated for those who travelled a long distance and were greatly appreciated by those who got a chance to dress up the graves of their ancestors.

Editorial

By Pat Redican

We all tend to live at the centre of our own little world, letting our personal tragedies define how we see life around us.

This hit home with me one evening last week when I was absent minded reading in front of a television set a documentary on the boat people of Viet Nam began.

My first impulse was to change the channel, telling myself that I was uninterested in a situation that I could do little about. Human suffering is everywhere and we have our own problems.

I didn't change the channel though, and so I learned more about what I am now convinced is one of the greatest human tragedies of our century.

The show compared the massive human suffering with Hitler's decimation of the Jews. That alone made me sit up and think. We are all so righteous about the evils of the past and so complacent about the horrors of our own times.

Pullers Jamboree Cont'd

Roger Snider and Gord Chapman were travelling to Belleville on Monday to be on the open line show and to discuss and clear up any last discrepancies. They are hoping to pique the interest of people from Ottawa to Toronto and, with what they have to offer, there shouldn't be any problem.

We will go through the list of events but it should be remembered that many of these events and times could be changed slightly according to the number of entrants and additional events that may have been added. If you have any questions about the events, you can call these numbers: 473-2426 for the dog pulls; 473-2270 for the tractor and 4-wheel drive vehicles; 473-2686 or 473-2071 for the horse and pony pulls.

Entertainment will be supplied by the Western Hayriders, Little Joey Nicholson, Roger Snider and Odey plus much more. A 4-wheel pull off between the local dealers will also take place.

Sunday

Add to all of this many more contests including the tug-of-war and horseshoe pitching championship and you have two full days of fun and enjoyment. Don't miss it.

Pepper is the world's most popular spice.

The documentary made a number of points. Firstly there was the tremendous extent of the suffering. These people are forced to leave Viet Nam at the rate of 3,000 a day by an apparently racist government (most of those leaving are of Chinese descent, refugees from the communist takeover of that country in the late forties). They are desperate to leave because they feel they are not allowed to work in Viet Nam, presumably because of their race and their political (non communist) feelings.

They leave in overcrowded, unseaworthy vessels and travel many miles over dangerous seas to other Southeast Asian countries: only Hong Kong is now still willing to take them in. Once there, they are put in refugee camps and hope that they will gain entry to one of few western countries that are willing to take them in. The gap between the openings for people and the number leaving is tremendous: Canada has promised to take 12,000, the number leaving the country in an average four day period.

Still, little is being done. Canada has only accepted these few because, according to Immigration Minister Ron Atkey, we have to consider the "backlash". The backlash is the racist view that these people are yellow, they are going to take away Canadian jobs, they are dirty, they are lazy, they will end up as a burden on the Canadian taxpayer, they are communists who will spread dissent in this country.

All this, of course, is garbage. Past experience has shown that these immigrants will be more

Fire situation worsens in Tweed District

By Ross Lees

Two weeks ago, we ran an article on forest fires in Northern Ontario and the crews from the Tweed district that were sent to assist in fighting them. Since that time, two more crews have returned to Northern Ontario to again fight the big fires that so often occur in that region.

At the same time, the members of the Tweed fire centre have watched their own area develop into an area of extreme fire hazard that finally erupted last week. Short two full crews, many of the people not directly involved in fire control were pressed into action as fire fighters when a rash of fires began to show up and there was no sign of a let up in the hot weather that has formed this fire hazard. Men and equipment from other parts of Ontario also had to be utilized to keep the situation under control.

At the time that article appeared in the paper, thirty-two fires had been fought by the Tweed crews. By last Friday, that number had jumped to fifty-one and more fires were being discovered each day. To get an idea of what they were up against, I spent Thursday of last week in the fire centre and on the scene of two of these fires, one that had started two days prior to Thursday and one that broke out on that day. The term "organized confusion" seemed to apply perfectly when I arrived and by the time I left that evening, I had not changed my opinion although I was very impressed with the way things got done and the way that the people at the fire centre anticipated many of the problems that arose.

On Thursday morning, "Fire 45" was where much of the fire centre's attention was directed. The fire had covered thirty acres in Hinchinbrooke Township, south-east of Kildare, had four crews working on it and was surrounded with 10,000 feet of hose. The fire boss was John Hadley from Cornwall. He had two Tweed crews, under Pat Gallagher and Helmut Dombrowsky, plus two crews under John Henry and Morgan Mason from Ottawa and Cornwall respectively, working under him. The fire had been divided into two sectors with Pat Gallagher and Roger Free acting as sector bosses. Besides the twenty-one men working on the fire, there were four more men and two women working in the camp that had been set up to supply the men on the fire. Gary Sharman was in charge of the camp and its operation.

Getting the hot spots

Doug Mumford, myself and the district supervisor flew to the fire in one of the helicopters that was in Tweed to assist in fighting the fires. There were two helicopters and a Cessna stationed in Tweed while a Canso water bomber was stationed in Belleville. As we flew over Fire 45, we passed over another burned out area that Doug said was Fire 41. Arriving on the scene of Fire 45, we found it being contained by the four crews with no open flame left on it. The crews were beginning the mopping up procedures and expected to have the fire listed as "under control" by that evening or Friday morning. Smoke was still visible from the air but this came from what is called hot spots in the fire and these areas within the perimeter of the fire were slowly but systematically being doused by the crews.

I was dropped off at the base camp of the fire and, as the helicopter prepared to leave, a call came over the radio for Doug to proceed to a fire near Cornwall to have a look at it. We had previously arranged to have the helicopter back at Fire 45 within two or three hours but as Doug climbed in to go to the other fire, he yelled back that I may have to stay on this fire until they could come back to get me. I started wishing that I had brought the mosquito repellent I had left in the car in Tweed.

Fire "under control"

The fire boss and I proceeded to the fire after lunch at the camp and, by the time we arrived on the burn, I didn't envy the guys who were working in 90 degree plus temperatures that existed on the burn. The pumps being used by each crew were all in operation and they were steadily working from the outer perimeter of the fire towards the centre, hosing down literally every inch of the burn. The crews were all

The water bomber assists a crew fighting Fire 49 while the crew in the bottom picture "mop up" Fire 45.

experienced and this was easy to see in that there were very few hotspots left where the crews had already passed. The sector bosses and the fire boss were constantly walking over the burn to insure that no hotspots would again erupt into flame and restart the fire.

Finally, the helicopter arrived and I was flown back to Tweed. Shortly after getting in the air, we could see smoke coming from another fire that had been spotted northeast of Kaladar while I had been visiting the other fire. From the amount of smoke coming off it, you knew that the crew on this fire were going to do a good day's work before they retired for the evening.

When I arrived back at Tweed, Doug asked me if I had gone over this new fire. When I answered in the negative but expressed a desire to see it from the air because I knew the water bomber was working on it, he called the pilot of the Cessna and told him that I would be right down for a trip to Fire 49, (several more had been discovered in the meantime).

As we approached the fire, the pilot pointed out the 800 gallon bomber as it was completing a circuit. We followed it to the nearest lake where it landed and picked up a new load of water by skimming across the surface of the lake. Without slowing down, it again arose into the air and proceeded to the fire where its cargo was dropped on the fire. This is an awe inspiring sight from the air but must be even more so from the ground. Communication between the bomber and the crew on the ground must be good because 800 gallons of water falling from that height could easily kill the men below.

As the water bomber then returned to the lake for another refill, the pilot of the aircraft I was in spotted another fire. He radioed back to Tweed and was told that it was probably a fire at a dump north of Tweed, but that we had better go and check it out. The pilot looked at me rather ruefully as he could see that the turbulence was getting the better of me. He took the aircraft to a higher altitude and less turbulent air and proceeded. As we flew over the new fire, we confirmed that it was a dump, circled the airplane, and I expected to head for home. Not so. Another smoke.

This fire, we soon discovered, was on an island on Lingham Lake and had been reported before. It was a small island and, since it had caused so much trouble before, the fire centre decided to let it burn off. They knew this fire could not burn more than about one acre and, by the time a crew got on the fire, it would have already burned most of that. The call to return to Tweed was music to my ears and we made it back without any further sightings.

The problem time of day, from about 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., had now passed and the people at the fire centre would concentrate on supplying the fires already in progress and preparing for tomorrow's expected fires.

After tramping through the bush around

Fire 45, I knew what Doug Mumford was talking about when he said this was the driest he had ever seen this area. "In 1975, we fought 154 fires, which was a record year for this district," he said. "I checked back on the records of that year and the only reason that we aren't exceeding that record this year is that we are not getting as many thunderstorms as we did that year." He expected to approach one hundred fires this year, which would put them over the ten year average of 78. "Fifty to sixty percent of our fires this year are recreation fires and, while this weather is great for campers, it is certainly less than ideal for us and some of these areas being burned this year cannot afford that fire. It will take hundred of years to replace that soil that is being burned off this year."

Things in the fire centre seemed much more relaxed and organized as I left but it was like the quiet before the storm. These people will go through many more days like this until they get some relief from rain or until campers realize that, in weather and temperatures like we have had for the past month, extra care must be taken when they are in the woods.

Minutemen cont'd

the left field line drove in B. Doxtator. So the final score: Stirling Juveniles 5 Madoc Minutemen 3.

Ted Sexsmith took the loss. Ted gave up the three runs on seven hits; he walked two and struck out four. The Minutemen collected six hits and left three men on base.

Thursday night in Stirling, the Minutemen met Hoards in an important game. Again the locals had problems getting the timely hits they needed. They left runners on second and third, twice, in being edged 2-1 by Hoards. Both Brian Armstrong and Phenson pitched strong games. Armstrong gave up two runs on six hits; walked two and struck out six. Phenson meanwhile gave up one run on seven hits, walked one and struck out nine.

The Minutemen have lost all of their last three games by unearned runs being scored. In Tweed an error, against the Juveniles an error, and against Hoards a wild pitch.

The Minutemen's record is now seven wins, six losses and two ties. They have one game left against Holloway, this week, in Tweed. The play-off picture is a question mark. Six teams out of the nine make the play-offs. We will have to wait until the final games are played on Tuesday night (July 24th).

The Minutemen played in a tournament in Grafton during the week-end. More on that next week. Let's hope they batted and pitched their way out of their recent slump during this tournament.

Note: They did and in convincing fashion. Read about it in the Review next week.

responsible, more likely to be employed than the national average. They are leaving Viet Nam, as they left China, because they are considered a threat by communist regimes. They see Canada as the land of opportunity and, as a Canadian immigration official has pointed out, anyone with the bravery and perseverance to make it through the trip across the sea and through the refugee camp has a better than average chance of being successful in Canadian society.

As for the only serious argument - that these people will be taking jobs from those already here during a depression, even that does not bear up to examination.

By and large the jobs these people will get are the ones that go begging anyways. For instance, in spite of the consistently high unemployment rate, it is always possible to find jobs in Toronto. Not good jobs. Jobs that most Canadians consider below them. But jobs that pay you enough to subsist. As with past immigrant groups, these people will take those jobs because they will want to get ahead.

In Marmora and Madoc we have the opportunity to help these people. Since the Ontario government has said it will match every dollar given to the Red Cross, we can support the Red Cross with our monies and know we are giving twice what we give personally.

We can also open up our hearts a little and consider the problem seriously. Hopefully we will conclude that we should bring pressure to bear on our government to take in more of these human beings that, because they are of a different race and millions of miles away, we find so easy to ignore.

Handle farm chemicals safely

FARM CHEMICAL SAFETY

Modern technology has provided a wide variety of crop chemicals for weed and pest control. These pesticides are essential to agriculture, but like many other tools they can be hazardous to man and his environment if not used properly.

There are three basic ways in which humans and animals are poisoned by pesticides: 1) Swallowing (ingestion); 2) Breathing; 3) Contact with the skin.

Four Keys to Farm Chemical Safety

Safety begins with a knowledge of the product you're using. Reaction to poisoning by certain pesticides will be immediate and severe. The effect of others may not be evident for a considerable time.

1. Label: Read everything on the label and follow instructions to the last word. Don't become complacent with a chemical you are using on a regular basis. Eg. dairy chemicals.

2. Use: Use the correct chemical for the job. Plan your application and purchase the amount you will use. Use personal protective equipment, for example, respirator, goggles and gloves. Keep children away from mixing, dusting or spraying areas.

3. Storage: Store chemicals in a locked room or cabinet, away from contact with human food or livestock feed. Keep chemicals in their original containers--never in pop bottles or unmarked cans.

4. Disposal: Dispose of empty chemical containers immediately on isolated dumps. Crush, break and bury metal or glass containers whenever possible.

First Aid

Call medical help immediately. Take the label of the product with you to the doctor.

Pamphlets on chemical safety may be obtained from your local Agriculture Office or the Farm Safety Association.

Pesticide Safety

When applying pesticides, remember that you are using these chemicals to kill living organisms. Pesticides can also poison you! The number one rule when using pest control products is to read and heed the label. Wear protective equipment such as sealed goggles, respirators and rubber gloves when handling pesticides. Dispose of empty containers properly, and keep unused chemicals stores securely away from the children and animals.

Refuel Safety

Many farmers are seriously burned as a result of refueling equipment in an unsafe manner. Never refuel a machine without giving it time to cool off. No smoking while refueling! Never overfill a fuel tank. Follow these simple rules to avoid serious injury to yourself or your employees.

First Aid Training

Why is first aid training needed on the farm? Very simply, a person who is qualified to administer first aid can prevent a minor injury from becoming serious. Farming operations are usually remote from medical facilities. First aid treatment could mean the difference between life and death under such conditions. And remember, if you hire help, the Workmen's Compensation Act requires you to have a trained first aider on staff.

"Those who despise money will eventually sponge on their friends." Chinese Proverb

A LOT TO DO, A LOT TO SEE

By: Glenn Garnett

There was a lot to see and do this past weekend, with a rodeo, a steam and antique and arts festival shows to go to. In every instance, the affair was blessed by good weather and organizers were blessed with excellent crowds.

The Northumberland Arts Festival opened Saturday, and the turnout and local support exceeded wildest expectations. Mary-Anne White, one of the organizers of the show, seemed beside herself with joy as hundreds filled the Campbellford Arena to look at the over sixty displays and antique cars that made up the first annual festival.

"Last week I took a drive to as many camp and cottage resorts as I could find," she said. "The people I told about the festival seemed delighted that something was going on in the area."

The show was opened by M.P. George Hees, and among the honoured dignitaries was Pat Fennell, the local boy who made good at the Pan-Am Games two weeks ago by winning a bronze medal for Canada in boxing.

EASTERN STEAM AND ANTIQUE SHOW

Norwood was really alive last weekend with two attractions - one of them, the annual antique and steam show.

The experience of walking through the fair grounds was not only a treat for the eyes but for the ears as well. The chugging and puffing of the engines operating on what was once known as 'good clean steam' added to the atmosphere. Some of the steam engines cut wood, turned wood into splinters and shavings, others turned and pulled and pushed, but really appeared to do nothing. Some were huge and invited attention when they rolled down the race track, blowing a shrill whistle to get people out of the way. Others pumped water but all delighted young and old alike.

WAKEFIELD RODEO

Once yer finished with them new-fangled horseless carriages, you could mosey on down highway 7 to Mel Wakefield's spread, where he was puttin' on his twelfth annual rodeo.

As usual, Mel, and his brother, the Calgary Kid put on a real hoe-down for all the cowboys and cowgirls. After I put on the feed-bag for awhile, I put my feet up and watched some of the best ropin', ridin', cattle bustin' and calf-tyin' this side of the forty-ninth.

The caller was an old galoot name of Snake Rogers from Tyler, Texas. He helped to make the show a real knee-slapper. It was sponsored by the folks carryin' the Lions' brand in Norwood.

Wakefield's Rodeo provided ten-second thrills

Steam Show horse-pull showed real horsepower

Farm injury statistics don't tell whole story

The relatively high number of injuries on the farm is serious in Ontario and may be more serious than statistics indicate. Farming is ranked third behind mining and forestry as one of the nation's most hazardous occupations. Last year in Ontario, the Farm Safety Association recorded 2314 lost-time injuries in agriculture. There were many more injuries that required medical attention only and no time away from work. The Association's injury statistics are derived from injury reports from farm employers. At present, there are approximately 22,000 farm employers reporting to the Workmen's Compensation Board, roughly a third of the actual number of farmers in Ontario. So it is reasonable to assume that a large number of farm injuries are not included in the Association's statistics.

The Association also recorded 46 farm fatalities in 1978; of this number, 17 or 37 percent occurred to children under the age of fifteen. At present the Association uses a number of sources for gaining farm fatality information, and feels that while the statistics are representative of the types of farm fatalities occurring, they probably only represent half of the total number of farm fatalities.

The lack of complete injury and fatality statistics concerns the Association. While it is possible to identify problem areas with present injury and fatality statistics, they give no clear indication of the extent of the problem. More complete and comprehensive statistics could reveal that the farming occupation is more hazardous than present statistics indicate.

Consumer Casebook

Benefit Control Officers

The old question of those so-called Benefit Control Officer interviews is cropping up again with distressing regularity. Most complaints stem from such suggestions as, intimidation, disinterest, gruffness, rudeness, bullying attitude and leading questions.

The Unemployment Commission, rightly, has the power to establish that those receiving benefits are entitled and meeting the criteria. Benefit control officers are the people whose function it is to police this area. They are not there just to "cut off" claimants. However, do not be deluded that they will not, given the chance, recommend your disqualification or disqualification, etc.

The final decision is left to an Insurance Officer, but he relies mainly on the report of the BCO. When you go for an interview you are entitled to take someone along with you if you wish. You are entitled to know the name of the officer conducting the interview.

Make sure that you have lived up to your responsibilities under the Act by having a record of your DAILY job search, any letters you have written or received in respect to job applications. Be sure you register and attend the Manpower office regularly and record the dates in your log. Answer any questions accurately and truthfully but don't stand for any leading questions that trap you into saying you will only work in such and such an area or for such and such a wage. If that is the case you could be cut off for being "unnecessarily" restrictive in the type of work you will take.

Don't argue with the BCO. Don't allow him or her to ruffle your feathers. This is a tactic used by some BCOs.

If you are not treated properly ask for his immediate superior. If he refuses, go to the manager of the local office and ascertain the name and then write a full report and send it to the person in charge of Benefit Control in your area. Be sure to send a copy of your letter to your member of parliament and to the regional director of the UIC.

It is not necessary for any person receiving benefits to be treated as anything less than a first class citizen.

as a teacher in Charlottetown, Labrador

Teaching jobs are scarce, so when Linda Howard entered teacher's college in 1977 she thought that it was very likely she wouldn't end up a classroom. Already a qualified physiotherapist, Miss Howard had contemplated either going back to that profession or possibly, teaching disabled adults.

As it turned out however, she was one of a very few who did land new teaching jobs last year; and in getting the job she has opened herself up to very different way of living.

Miss Howard worked this past year- and is returning next year - to the 80 pupil school in the community of Charlottetown, Labrador, a village of 250 people that depends on fishing for its existence and where the only way in or out is by plane and boat.

"I really like it. I'm looking forward to going back. It's so different from here. There's no rat race. Even the air you breath is cleaner."

The most remarkable thing about the life in Charlottetown is the isolation, Miss Howard says. Particularly in the winter. Because the boats only run in the summer (from November or December to May or June the ice prevents navigation) all our supplies come in then. Some food comes in the winter, but, because it has to be blown in, it is very expensive.

Even planes are rare enough and dependent on good weather. "You can fly in or out of Labrador (Goose Bay) by Air Canada, but in Labrador, you fly by Air Labrador which has only single engine planes and can only fly in good weather. So I flew back before school ended because the weather was good for flying that day. One day last winter people stopped by to visit overnight and ended up staying three weeks, waiting for the weather to be suitable in both Goose Bay and

Life in isolated northern communities

by Patrick Redican

as a mining superintendent in Nanisivik, Baffin Island

It is quite a thing to travel to an established community however isolated, as Susan Howard did: it is another matter altogether to go out and help to establish a new settlement.

Ted Hewett did just that in 1976 when he went to Baffin island to open up the Nanisivik mine on the island's northern tip. A mining engineer, the former Marmora resident was sent by his company to act as mine superintendent for the high grade underground zinc and lead mine and has just returned after three years. "My job was to start the mine up, bring people in, train them and bring the mine into production," Mr. Hewett said. A by product of this work was the 400 person community of Nanisivik.

Once again isolation is the most noticeable thing about this community. "It's difficult to compare life here to life there," Mr. Hewett said. "We were very isolated in the sense that you can't go anywhere unless you fly. On the other hand we were only five hours by jet from Montreal."

The isolation, Mr. Hewett said meant that everyone tended to work very hard and put in long hours. "People go there to make money. They work as much overtime as possible." It also means that the turnover is close to 100 per cent per year, a figure that Mr. Hewett claims is good for a mine of that sort.

Also contributing to the turnover is the climate and the latitude. Temperatures range down to -30 and, more rarely, -40 throughout the winter. The warmest it ever gets is 10 or 11 Celsius. "Summer never comes. It's just like having spring for a little while before winter comes back."

Mr. Hewett notes however that the winters, although longer, are not as cold as in northern Ontario or Quebec. "I spent five years in Noranda and it was colder there."

REMOVAL OF SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

"DEFEPIL COMPLEX"

The Defepil Complex progressively and permanently reduce the regrowth of hair on most parts of the body.

The Defepil Complexes include a liquid and a cream. They are non toxic and non irritant. They do not affect the keratin of the hair or the skin: their effect develops progressively with lasting results.

Their active principle acts exclusively and specifically on the germinative cells of the hair, but does not affect the hormonal imbalances which are often associated with excessive hair growth.

1 Defepil Complexes progressively and permanently reduce hair regrowth.

• vials, to be applied by the esthetician/salon

• cream, for follow-up care at home.

2 Royal Wax with Azulene

• leaves a perfectly clean surface, no need to retouch

• pulls out the whole hair, without breaking it

• applied at a low temperature

• causes no irritation

• the strip remains supple and does not break

Life on Baffin Island

He adds that the cold, once you become accustomed to it, is not noticeable. The darkness of the winters is the same. "You tend more," he said, and then comes back to fact that people tend to work more as well.

The mine workers are 75 per cent brought in from the south and 25 per cent native Inuit (there is a 50 year old community, Arctic Bay 18 miles from Nanisivik; the next closest settlement is 200 miles further away). The men from the south come for the hours and the benefits—2 weeks vacation for every three months worked. The Inuit workforce is growing steadily labour Mr. Hewett said. Although this would theoretically provide a more stable workforce, it will take some time to achieve.

"The older Eskimos particularly have a hard time adapting, getting up at 7:00 a.m. every day, working eight hours. They're a hunting and fishing people and its a very different life. However every year it gets better."

In spite of the high turnover, Mr. Hewett says that a number of men bring their families. "There are about sixty to seventy families up there, 75 kids in the school."

In most cases, again to avoid boredom, the wives work as well. And the community is not without facilities: there is a swimming pool, a gymnasium, an outdoor hockey rink, all well-used; and the community gets "excellent reception" on two television channels transmitted off satellites.

Having lived for three years with his family in Nanisivik, Mr. Hewett says that he felt that it was a good experience for them and that he, his wife, and his son all enjoyed it. Since he works for a mine management company, he feels that he is likely to be posted to another remote mine (he will spend next year at the company's head office in Toronto). "I'd like to do it again, but I don't think I'd take my family." His words echo Miss Howards—"It's a little beyond . . . reality." It's a good experience, but not really a good place to raise a family.

However Mr. Hewett points out that at least two other former area residents are settled there more permanently Rick Armstrong of Madoc has been in the Arctic Five years and is now working as adult educator in Arctic Bay. He has a wife and family there. Leigh Brintnell another former Madoc resident, works for the government in Frobisher Bay.

IN BRIEF:

Often the most interesting stories in our newspapers don't get into MIDWEEK. Because of their particular local interest or their high news value they often end up in the front pages of the individual paper. So to keep you informed on the news in the villages around you (and who can do it better than us?) we're offering a NEWS ROUNDUP, capsulizing the most important stories in each of our five papers.

MADOC THE REVIEW

Several interesting things took place in Madoc this week and anticipation is running high for the Pullers Jamboree to be held on this coming weekend. The Jamboree should have something of interest for everyone and should prove to be as good a time as can be had.

Forest fires were raging in the Tweed District and a great deal of concern was being expressed by the fire centre about the lack of rain in the forecast for the next several days. Doug Mumford, fire supervisor for the district, was going to be asking for a restricted fire zone to be put into effect in this area on Monday, July 23rd. This would mean that there would be absolutely no open fires allowed throughout this district. The aim of this measure is to cut down on the man-made fires so their firefighters only have to contend with fires started from natural causes.

The Veerman family of Madoc are trying to organize support for the sponsoring of a Vietnamese family. Immigration has instructed them that they must have a signed total commitment of $500. per month from at least five families so they continue to work towards that goal. Anyone interested in helping them can reach them at 473-4507 or attend a meeting at their place on July 31st at 8:00 P.M.

Other events at Madoc this week included the annual Kiwanis Street Dance and a decoration service at Hazzards United Church.

HASTINGS THE STAR

This week, with the memory of the tragic ambulance accident involving a crew of the Hastings ambulance, and the subsequent heroic actions of driver Allan Finn, local people had time to consider the value of such an ambulance service.

Hastings ambulance president Tom Gale says the department has had difficulty in attracting and holding onto volunteer ambulance personnel because of the lack of financial compensation and thanks for the people in the village.

According to a Hastings Star poll taken this week in the village, everybody believes Hastings should have a Chamber of Commerce, but all had different ideas about what the Chamber would do.

Hastings' Chamber of Commerce appears to be taking a summer holiday, with the last meeting a distant three months ago. Support for the local chamber has been very poor in recent years, hampering any attempts to do anything for the betterment of all the downtown businesses.

Former Chamber president J.R. Rennie says the Chamber will have to be dissolved formally if it is to end, but adds that he doesn't believe this will happen.

The word recycling is on everyone's lips in nearby Campbellford, where a group of local people are planning to start a recycling plant to offset the need for a landfill site in Seymour Township, the object of much controversy. The village of Hastings may be asked to join in by contributing their garbage to Northumberland Recycling Limited.

HAVELOCK THE CITIZEN

Last Wednesday afternoon, the Havelock IOOF and Rebekah lodges played host to a group of students on their way to the Ontario lodges' annually sponsored tour to the United Nations in New York City. This year the Havelock lodge not only provided a buffet luncheon for the 42 students, their escorts and some of their parents, but they also put up $500 to sponsor a student. Barry Walsh of R.R. 3, Indian River, was successful in winning the trip which lasts from July 18 to August 2nd. Barry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walsh, Indian River, and a student in Grade 12 at Norwood District High School.

A group of people in Havelock have started a local branch of Alcoholics Anonymous to meet every Thursday evening at 8:30 p.m. in the basement of Knox Presbyterian Church. Although Havelock was one of the first communities in Ontario to form an AA group, back in 1952, it later disbanded and persons seeking help for a drinking problem had to go to Campbellford, Norwood or Peterborough.

Jack Wenzel, Past Master of Havelock Masons, was elected Deputy Grand Master of Peterborough District at the annual 124th Communication of the Grand Lodge, Province of Ontario, at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, last week.

James Calnan, a resident of Havelock since 1945 and a businessman in the village for over 30 years, passed away at his summer cottage on the Trent River last Thursday evening.

NORWOOD THE REGISTER

There was plenty to see and do this past weekend with a wild west rodeo and a steam and antique show happening in and around the village.

Mel Wakefield's farm west of Norwood was the scene of the 12th annual rodeo, emceed by Snake Rogers from Tyler, Texas, and featuring some of the best roping and riding to be found in Canada. The event was sponsored by the Norwood Lions Club who say the Eastern Steam and Antique Show, held in the Norwood fair grounds that same weekend, didn't affect attendance a bit. The good weather was also responsible for large crowds.

The Steam and Antique Show was another weekend success. Antique machinery and their proud owners moved into the fair grounds on Friday, and the sound of chugging and puffing pervaded the grounds. Live country and western entertainment greeted those who wished to sit in the shade and put their feet up for awhile.

Nine year old Jamie Cooper of King Street in Norwood received scrapes and bruises when he was hit by a car as he was crossing highway seven to the Norwood swimming area. The area, usually crowded with children in these hot summer days, has been free of incidents with car traffic, but this incident indicates a need for driver caution in that area.

MARMORA THE HERALD

The Marmora Sidewalk Sale was judged a success by businessmen and shoppers on Saturday; plus 30 C temperatures kept the afternoon traffic light but the mall was thronged in the morning. A special feature of the sale, a dunk tank, run by the CNC, was quite popular in spite of not working properly.

Springbrook Juveniles won the Marmora Men's Baseball Tournament on the weekend with Havelock winning the "B" Championship. Bill Currie of Havelock and Ron Bateman and Tom Reid of Springbrook took home awards.

The Marmora Lions' Summerfest drew a large crowd for drinking and dancing at the arena Saturday night. Lions reported more than 1,000 people participated and, although the gross was the same, they made less money than last year because of rising costs.

Mrs. Maude O'Connor of Marmora celebrated her 100th birthday Monday, July 23. Mrs. O'Connor, still lively and interested in life around her, took it all very calmly. "I don't feel any older," she said.

One foot in the furrow' by Bob Trotter

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, Eldale Rd. Elmira Ont. N3B 2C7

New hog barns are being built at a great rate around our part of the province. Seems everybody and his uncle is getting into the production of pork.

The Ontario Pork Producers Marketing Board is worried.

Canadian production, up 12 percent last year, has exploded this year and is already up 24 percent. On top of all that, Quebec farmers have hopped on to the high-price-of-pork bandwagon and increased production 30 percent.

Economists are predicting a severe drop in pork prices, down to the low $50s.

The pork board, in fact, says more than 2,000 more farmers are shipping hogs now than a year ago. In other words, the good prices of the last few years in hogs has convinced some farmers who had not been in production to get back into it again. Not only that, but those "new" producers are the fellows building the big barns. They are in it to stay. They have to stay because they have too much invested to get out.

Living in Waterloo County, one of the biggest hog producing counties in the province-second only to Wellington, I believe-the production increases could throw the entire marketing scheme into a tizzy if the price does drop.

Mind you, economists and agricultural experts have been predicting a drop in pork prices for three years. They are at it again now with dire warnings to all producers to cut back now while they still can.

What would frighten me if I were a producer is that forecasters in the United States are predicting a 20 percent increase in marketings this year. Canada, whether we like it or not, is in a North American market. What happens across the border, particularly in hog production, has tremendous influence here. A 20 percent increase in production over there is equal to more than the entire Canadian output of hogs.

If the Yanks have a surplus, you know where it will go: right across the border. Which will have a depressing effect on Canadian prices. The drop is already apparent: from $72.44 a hundredweight last winter to less than $63 a hundredweight in May.

I don't know what the break-even point in hogs is these days but the heavy investment some farmers have already committed themselves to would probably make it around $55 or $60 a hundredweight. Anything less than that and they will be losing money on every hog they ship.

But I figure farmers must be the most optimistic people in the world. No matter what the guessperts have been saying for the last two years, farmers keep right on ignoring them.

The economists' warnings have been unheeded. The experts have been told to go suck eggs.

Maybe the hog producers think their new restaurant in Toronto will sell all the hogs they can produce. Or maybe that hilarious magazine of theirs called Playboar will promote their product so well the demand for pork will skyrocket. The restaurant is called The Pork Place and it's run by the pork producers. Well, not really. But the producers are bankrolling it and paying others to run The Pork Place for them.

It's in downtown Toronto and it is the first time in North America that farmers, as a group have financed their own restaurant.

I hope it works. I hope they sell all kinds of pork because they are going to need a lot of sales to get rid of the thousands of hogs that are coming on the market over the next few months.

They are planning to open four more restaurants on a franchised basis this year. They'll need a lot more than that to keep 14,000 producers in business on a break-even basis.

teaching in Labrador

Charlottetown. When I fly back in, I might have to wait a day or a few weeks in Goose Bay."

Although a long way from the rest of the world, the winters in Labrador should not bring on visions of long, lonely days. "I wouldn't say I had a long hard winter. The skidoo is the big thing up there, the main means of transportation - outside of skidoos the community has only a truck, a land rover and a caleupilder tractor - but the main way of having fun too. We go visiting to neighbouring communities (Port Hope Simpson), kids go courting on skidoos...it's the big sport up there."

Miss Howard said that much of the work in the community is done in the winter, because it is easier to haul things by skidoo and komatic, a type of sled, over the big skidoo trails or roads. "Winter is the time that people fix up their houses and do little subsistence type of things - trapping, some ice fishing. Although everyone collects unemployment in the winter, it's more of a way of life. People don't just sit around."

The fishing season, where the residents draw most of their income, is the central fact of their life. Charlottetown is located on an inlet nine miles from the open sea and most of the fishermen and their families move out to fishing camps on the sea during the summer. This means that, although the school year ends in June and starts in September, very few children are there at the beginning or end of the term. "When we finished up there only 15 out of 80 students were still at school. When we start back we might have half and they'll trickle in through September."

Although behind in some ways (running water and central heating are uncommon and unreliable) Miss Howard says she feels that Newfoundland's schools are at the same level as Ontario's at least in her experience. She said that the curriculum is comparable to Ontario's both in her experience practice teaching here and comparing notes with other teachers. "One difference is that I have to teach a combined kindergarten - Grade One-Grade Two Class, and that's harder. On the other hand I have only nineteen children, and that sort of makes up for it."

Another major difference in the school system is that most of the schools are religiously affiliated, either Catholic or Protestant (integrated Anglican-United etc.) her's is one of the Pentecostal schools in Labrador. "The government finances it and sets the minimum standard and the church sets the curriculum." Thus, in most cases, religion is an integrated part of the subject matter, rather than a subject not to be mentioned (as in our public system). It's also not a source of difficulty in getting funding, as it often is in Ontario.

A final test of just how much a community appeals to you: "Would you settle down and live there?" Miss Howard says yes, "if I had a young family. But I think that for children leaving the community to go out into the world it could be very difficult, because life is so much simpler there. I think I'd feel, as my children got older, that I shouldn't raise them in so isolated a place."

But for now all that is theoretical and she's headed back for another winter where there are no cars, no factories and few of the pressures we associate with modern living.

Woods, Water & Wildlife

Last week we described the devastation wrought by the tent caterpillar, whose glistening webs have adorned many branches in the past three summers. Most birds seem to scorn the bristly bodies of these pests even at the height of their abundance, but one family thrives on caterpillars. Which one? Why, the lowly cuckoo, who seems to regard tent caterpillars much as we would steak and potatoes.

While most of us seldom see cuckoos, there are actually two species in Ontario - the yellow-billed and black-billed. Both are robin-sized, long and slender, olive above and white below. They both share secretive habits and a distinctive voice - a sort of regular cow-cow-cow that emerges from thick shrubbery and undergrowth. Because of their inclination to sing just before a shower, these birds have been nick-named rain-crows.

Several weeks ago on an early morning walk for the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, we watched a yellow-billed cuckoo sit motionless in a small shrub, moving only occasionally to pluck another caterpillar from the tent by its side. Just down the road, its black-billed relative was existing on similar fare. 1979 is probably the best year in a decade to see cuckoos, because their fondness for tent caterpillars has increased local populations substantially.
